Edward Everett Hale Is Very Old

BUT NEARLY AS ACTIVE AS IN YOUTH

The Birthday Of Boston's Noted Man Of Letters

HIS CAREER HAS BEEN A REMARKABLE AND USEFUL ONE

Boston, Mass., April 3.—Dr. Edward Everett Hale, preacher, publicist and man of letters, is eighty-five years old today. Since his appointment as chaplain of the Senate Dr. Hale has passed his winters in Washington, but his summers he continues to pass at his home in Roxbury.

Despite his great age, Dr. Hale is as vigorous as he was a quarter of a century ago and his mental faculties are unimpaired. He is a great lover of outdoor life and to this he attributes in great measure his splendid health in his old age.

In celebration of Dr. Hale's eighty-fifth birthday anniversary the Leander Society, which Dr. Hale went on duty that night, there are founded, is seeking to raise a fund

WORMS

Unsuspected worms are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When a child is sick you rarely think that his sickness is caused by worms, yet worms, either directly or indirectly, are the cause of three quarters of all the ills of childhood. Children, and often-times adults feel out of sorts, are irritable, feel listless and unfreshened in the morning, suffer with indigestion, have a variable appetite, foul tongue, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; eyes heavy, and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; slow fever; and often in children, convulsions—in the majority of cases the cause of all the trouble is worms though you may not suspect their presence.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

A pure vegetable compound, has been the standard household remedy since 1851. It never fails to expel not only worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure, the stomach sweet, the bowels regular and the waste system strong and healthy.

"The mother who gives her children Dr. True's Elixir regularly is wise, because it not only increases the appetite, and is a preventive of convulsions, cold, fever and worms but gives rugged, robust health."

Sold by all Druggists. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00.

of $50,000 for the old age of its founder. The work is in charge of an executive committee of which Kidder, Peabody and Company, the Boston bankers, are the treasurers.

No living man has done more to raise the moral standards of Americans than has Dr. Hale. He has been a conspicuous figure in all kinds of reform and rescue work, both in Boston and in many other and distant cities. From the time he received his first license to preach he has been a conspicuous figure in all the most advanced forward movements in charity and education.

Dr. Hale refuses to be called a clergyman. He prefers to be designated only as a "Christian minister." The title of "Professor of Americanism" to his generation has been applied in referring to Dr. Hale and it perhaps best describes his most conspicuous efforts. His entire career, his hereditary influences and environment and his natural inclinations and choice of friends, all tended to make him a patriotic American citizen, and fitted him to do for the American public what he conceived his "professor of America" as doing in a college—showing men that there "is such a reality as Americanism," that there are certain principles which belong to the American government, that there are certain feelings which are experienced by none but an American.

SPLENDID APRIL TONIC.

This is known as "Blood-Cleaning Time," especially among the older folks, who always take something during this month to clean the blood of impurities and build it up.

The following is the recipe as given by a well-known authority, and anyone can prepare it at home.

Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Sarsaparilla three ounces.

Get these simple ingredients from any good pharmacy and mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Everybody should take something to help the blood, which becomes impoverished and almost sour after the winter season, especially those who are subject to Rheumatism, Catarrh, Kidney and Bladder troubles.

It is said that one week's use of this mixture will clear the skin of sores, pimples or boils. This is sound, healthy advice, which will be appreciated by many readers.

A WORTHY SCION

Thomas Jefferson Splendidly Represents His Famous Family

Those who never saw the elder Jefferson in his immortal role of "Rip Van Winkle" have but little regret, now that his son has made the part as much his own as it was his father's. People who did see Joseph Jefferson during his life and who mourned that the American stage had lost so lovable a character as "Rip" will mourn less, in view of the absolute triumph of his son Thomas in his characterization of the hero of the Irving story.

The reproduction of the native classic on the stage of Music Hall on Tuesday evening left nothing to be desired. Not only was the acting of Thomas Jefferson himself perfect, but his support was of the best. The stage accessories, too, were very elaborate, adding to the effectiveness of the numerous scenes.

Thomas Jefferson comes of a family of actors, a family that has done much to give America a place in the dramatic world. It is necessary to say no more than that he is a worthy scion of his family. While he lives American playgoers can never forget the name of Jefferson, leaving out of consideration the fact that the father of the gentleman who appeared here on Tuesday evening left behind a name that will never die as long as stage literature exists in this country.

With Mr. Jefferson were Russell Cassell, Earl Western, Walter S. Howard, John Campbell, Viola Flanagan, Leon Flanagan, Elliott Frazar, Dudley McGara, Robert Brown, Horace Mitchell, Charles Dural, Mildred Johnson and Charlotte Chisholm, all of whom splendidly interpreted the parts assigned to them.

FROM ADAM UNTIL TO-DAY.

Short History of the Home as Seen by a Humorist.

The home is supposed to be a place where children can congregate, protected from the allurements of the world and the advice of the neighbors, and where parents can quarrel judiciously without too much interruption. In reality, however, the home is a place where decorators, painters, furniture men and plumbers meet at intervals in order that they may revel in luxury of their own.

Homes have been in vogue for some little time. Adam and Eve started the first one, and it would have been well with them if it had not been necessary to send off the washing. Thus the servant question started, and the ruin of man followed.

A home is what is left after you have paid the taxes, the interest on the mortgage and the installment man. To have more than one home is not to have any.

Homes were at one time popular in this country. When, by going out in the back yard to milk the cow, one was in danger of being scalped, the home was at the height of its popularity. Owing, however, to the decreasing demand for babies and the increasing demand for alimony, homes are being looked upon with disfavor.

In the suburbs the home still flickers on, kept alive by certain instincts and handed down from a past age.

It is impossible at present to say just how long the home will continue to exist. It is hard to raise children and mortgages at the same time.

It is quite evident that cooks and children are gradually disappearing. This greatly simplifies the problem.

In all probability the race of the future will be divided into two classes—those who, having become worn out looking for servants, are now in sanitariums being taken care of by the government, and those who still continue to work for the trusts, maintained by babies or bank accounts.

Healthful Occupations.

"Oilworkers are never bald. Visit our oil regions or those of Russia; examine the workmen's hair; it is soft and thick and glossy. For petroleum cures incipient baldness and if your hair is thinning rub some in. Never mind the smell. It will do you good."

The speaker, a druggist, went on earnestly: "Shepherds enjoy remarkable health. The odd odor of a sheep seems to drive away disease. Sheep are especially good for whooping cough. In a sheep country when a child takes whooping cough it is the custom for the mother to put it in play among the sheep and the next day it is well."

"The men and women who work among lavender, gathering it or distilling it, never have neuralgia or nervous headache. Lavender, moreover, is as good as a sea voyage for giving tone to the system. Run-down persons often work for nothing in lavender plants in order to build themselves up."

"Salt miners can wear summer clothes in blizzard weather without fear of catching cold, for salts are unknown among salt workers."

"Breweries and tanneries and printing ink factories bar out consumption. Turpentine works and rope walks bar out rheumatism. Copper mines bar out phthisis."

Home Grown Tea.

"This year 12,000 pounds of choice tea will be shipped from what is, at present, the only tea farm in the western hemisphere," says "Freeman Tilden in his article, 'Great chance for Tea Growers,' in the Technical World Magazine. 'This farm is at Summerville, S. C. In the face of difficulties that at times seem insurmountable, but on the other hand, with the kind assistance of the United States government, the Summerville tea farm has grown to a point where it can offer serious competition with the best grades of tea imported from China, India, Formosa or Java. But, above all, it has been demonstrated that, barring the question of labor, the finest tea can be successfully grown at home; and there is nothing that gladdens the heart of an American more than the discovery that he can enter into competition in a field hitherto denied him.'

When the many words that now make up the city of Cambridge, Mass., were only five, there was in old ward four a man by the name of Stearns, bright and wide-awake, who had tried for election to about every possible position in city hall, but without success. He was an "also ran" every time. After years of defeat he gave it up.

It was coming on near election day and the writer was driving one afternoon with the late alderman Frank H. Teale. While coming down Magazine street at a good trot, we heard behind us the clatter of hoofs. The alderman turned his head. One look was enough—it was Stearns; his horse had bolted and was on the run.

Frank pulled out to one side and as Stearns shot past cried out in a droll way: "Say! Stearns, what are you running for this time?"

Too Much Joy.
"I saw Peckham to-day," said Naggot, "and he was just as drunk as he could be."
"Well," replied Mrs. Naggot, "there's some excuse for him. He lost his wife last week."
"I know, but a man should be able to celebrate without making a pig of himself."

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

THE STOMACH

My but peoples' stomachs do cause a lot of trouble.

L. T. COOPER.

They heard people come in and tell me that for years they had been near the grave with Bright's disease or lung trouble, or kidney complaint and all manner of diseases and that the New Discovery had cured them. Of course these people were mistaken. It was nothing but their stomachs. As a matter of fact when the stomach gives out most everything else is thrown out of order too.

When a person feels tired and dull and despondent, is losing flesh and doesn't sleep well, has a poor memory, a bad taste in the mouth, a coated tongue, and other troubles he is liable to believe a lot of things that matter with him. Nine chances to one it's his stomach. I've seen Cooper's New Discovery bring back health to too many people in just this shape to believe anything else. Here's a letter about it:

"I suffered for a long time without knowing just what was the matter with me. I seldom felt like eating. I lost greatly in weight. My digestion was extremely poor and when I did eat I invariably suffered afterward. I was constipated and frequently suffered from severe nausea, violent headaches. When I heard of what the Cooper remedies were doing for others I resolved to try them."

"Relief came with the first bottle. My appetite and digestion improved rapidly. I am no longer constipated nor do I have those dreadful headaches. I sleep well and am gaining flesh." C. H. Powell, 13 Harrison Addition, Duluth, Minn.

We are selling immense quantities of these medicines and our customers express great satisfaction.

THAW IS NOT ABLE

To Advise His Lawyer's, So Testifies Alkist Hamilton

New York, April 2.—"Harry Thaw is not capable today of understanding the nature of the charges against him or of rationally advising his counsel."

Such was the sworn opinion of Dr. Allen M. Hamilton, the alienist, as delivered before the Thaw lunacy board today. Thaw's counsel fought desperately to keep this testimony from being delivered, but without avail.

Dr. Hamilton declared it to be his belief that Thaw is suffering from a progressive form of paranoia, or delusional insanity and declared the opinion that the defendant is not capable of realizing the nature of the charges against him.

Dr. Frank A. McGuire, the regular Thomas physician, was the first witness called before the commission today. He said he had seen Thaw two or three times a week since June 25 last, and had seen him every day of his trial, and had seen nothing irrational.

Michael J. Delahanty, the first prison guard who attended Thaw at his trial, followed Dr. McGuire. He said Thaw always addressed him as "Mr. Delahanty" and appeared rational throughout the time he had him in custody.

Mrs. Emily S. Walker, a probational officer and a constant visitor to the Tombs, said she had talked with Thaw many times prior to and during his trial.

The Rev. John Armstrong Wade, the Episcopal chaplain in the Tombs, said he had often discussed serious matters with Thaw, and had never noticed anything which suggested irrationality.

Mr. Jerome asked Mr. Wade the first conversation he had with Thaw after his arrest was rational or irrational.

Thaw testified at Mr. Hamilton's trial here and said: "I am unable to whisper 'Object to that.' Mr. Hamilton did so, but the question was allowed."

"This conversation at that time," said the chaplain, "was irrational."

It is understood that there will be another hearing before the representatives of the War Department on the bridge across the York river. It is said that the officials want the selection of the town to sign the request for a permit to build the bridge, which they refuse to do, so that another hearing has been called to try and straighten out the matter.

AS CONCORD VIEWS AN IMPERIAL- LIST

It is with considerable surprise that The Herald notes that its esteemed Concord contemporary, The Patriot, considers rather more than half a column of its valuable space
none too much for a reply to an editorial paragraph of three lines recently given a place in these columns.
The Herald is forced to admit, nevertheless, a certain amount of gratification that its contemporary feels constrained to give to its sentences consideration so serious. In passing, the present session of the New Hampshire Legislature has been long drawn out and many important questions have had to be settled.
Our Concord brother, in consequence,
seems to be rather disturbed and irritable.

It may be remembered that a few days ago, this paper published an observation to the effect that a real American differs from an anti-imperialist in that the former stands
by his country. For some reason the little paragraph aroused the deep resentment of The Patriot and it gave utterance to the following unkind remark:

"One can imagine another when under the influence of liquor or when raving in a semi-unconscious state, unburdening himself of such rot, but it is hard to imagine, we say even imagine, a person in a sane condition
doing so."

Why our contemporary deemed it necessary to lay such stress upon
that word imagine we are at a loss to understand. It is a fact, however,
that a thing beyond the imagination
of an editorial writer who saw in
Mr. Bryan the greatest living American must be strange and marvelous, indeed.

Having given us a solar plexus
blow as noted above, The Patriot hands us, without extra charge, a few definitions of the word imperialist from no less an authority than the Century Dictionary. For this valuable information we are properly grateful, although we were reasonably familiar with the definitions before.

With its position strengthened by the mighty bulwark of the Century,
The Patriot proceeds to settle all questions at issue in these ponderous
words:

"Ours is a Republic, the antonym
of empire, and if true to the Republic, we cannot be true to empire, and if our loyalty be to empire, we are false to the Republic."

"An anti-imperialist is not spurred to opposition because of lack of faith
in his country or through lack of love for his country, but because of his faith in his country, and his love for his country, and because of his faith in the institutions of his country, and because of his love for these institutions, which imperialism would tear down and destroy, just as it has ever torn down and destroyed them."

All this is very noble, brother, but what have your quotations from the Century Dictionary and your high-sounding phrases to do with the little group of men colloquially known as anti-imperialists? The Herald does not question the possibility of an honest difference of opinion as to the advisability of extending our possessions beyond the American continent and its adjacent islands.

It does, however, protest against the cowardly and lying attacks upon American soldiers and sailors and the deliberate giving of aid and comfort
to an enemy in arms, as far as the spoken and written word can give them, of which the men known, for lack of a better name, as anti-im-perialists have repeatedly been guilty. These men even harshly criticized the sending of American troops to the relief of the beleaguered legations in China in the Summer of 1900.

If our anti-imperialists had based their opposition to the policy of expansion solely upon the definitions
which The Patriot makes its text, their opinions would be entitled to the respect given to all honest opinions. When they call an American officer or an American soldier a mur-derer for doing nothing more than his sworn duty, and they have given utterance to accusations just as traitorous as that, The Herald feels that its harshest criticism is more than justified.

IN TRUST Mrs. Eddy Signs Over All Her Estate

TO A BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THREE MEN

Who Furnish $500,000 Bonds --- Transfer Made March Sixth

CLAIMS RIGHT TO BE SUBSTITUTED FOR "NEXT FRIENDS" NAMED IN SUIT

Concord, N. H., April 2.—Mrs.
Mary Baker G. Eddy's entire estate,
real, personal and mixed, copyrights,
contracts and all interests of every description, was secretly placed in the absolute control of three trustees
Henry M. Baker, her second cousin of Bow, N. H., Archibald McLellan
of Brookline and Josiah E. Fernald, president of the National Capital Bank of this city, where she has an account, on March 6.
Disclosing this action today in their answer to the bill in equity brought by George W. Glover and others for an accounting of Mrs. Eddy's property, counsel for the ten defendant Christian Science officials petition the court that these three trustees be substituted for present
plaintiffs as "next friends" of Mrs.
Eddy.

Of the three trustees of Mrs. Eddy's estate only Mr. McLellan is a member of the Christian Science Church. Henry M. Baker was formerly a member of Congress and is chairman of the committee on judiciary of the New Hampshire House of Representatives.

Josiah E. Fernald is president of the National State Capital Bank of Concord. This is the bank at which practically all of Mrs. Eddy's business has been transacted, and Mr.
Fernald has acted as Mrs. Eddy's financial agent. He is a brother of George A. Fernald, a well known Boston banker.

Archibald McLellan is the editor of the Christian Science Journal, the monthly magazine devoted to the religion. His headquarters are in Boston.

Chandler Not Disturbed
By these two forms of defence, the attorneys for Mrs. Eddy and the respondent officials of the church are confident that they have created an obstacle which will prove not only insurmountable to counsel for the petitioning relatives and that will permanently end the suit.

While both moves surprised the opposing counsel, ex-Senator William E. Chandler, senior counsel for the petitioners, who is in Washington, was interviewed over the long-distance telephone this afternoon and when apprised of the nature of the defend-ents' retort action remarked that he could meet it easily at the proper time.

The attorneys for the petitioners will lose no time in relentlessly assailing what counsel for Mrs. Eddy and the church regard as a "knockout" but which they characterize as
"a still further bit of evidence that things are not just as they should be at Pleasant View."

They look upon today's proceeding
as a "dodge" which emphasizes the urgency of just such an official inquiry.

The deed of Mrs. Eddy's property was executed March 6, 1907, and the trustees immediately took possession of it all, filing bonds to the amount of $500,000.

In her deed Mrs. Eddy makes clear that her estate is to be cared for by the trustees for the remainder of her
"earthly life," and that at the "termination thereof" the trustees are to dispose of the property in accordance with the provisions of her late will
and codicils.

The deeds provide that the expenses of her home, Pleasant View, and what she wants to extend the Christian Science movement be paid her.
There was no court hearing today.
The only proceeding involved the formal filing of the defence's document.

Had Long Planned Trust
Gen. Streeter said after the papers
were filed:

"The creation of a trust to take charge of and care for all her property and business affairs was contemplated by Mrs. Eddy before she had any knowledge that these proceedings were begun or contemplated."

and she had consulted me with reference thereto."

NEWINGTON

Newington, April 3.
Miss Beth Hoyt was the guest on Saturday and Sunday of Miss Bertha Anderson of Portsmouth.

Miss Dora Badger, cashier and stenographer at the G. B. French Company's store in Portsmouth, has resigned her position.

The schools began on Monday after a vacation of one week.

Herbert B. Dow of Portsmouth was the guest on Sunday of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Dow.

Mrs. Henry Beane of Brentwood
was a visitor in town over Sunday.

Misses Katherine Beane and Florence Coleman of Smith College and Miss Fannie deRoche of Bates College are passing vacations of two weeks at their homes here.

Miss Gail Hoyt of Cambridge, Mass., passed Saturday and Sunday
with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.
M. Hoyt.

The children of the Sabbath school
held their Easter concert on Sunday afternoon. The church was prettily decorated.

Misses Abbie and Mary Frink have returned from a short visit to Haverhill, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Foote have moved to Piermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Vennis Grey and Miss May Colcord have returned to their homes in Farmington, after being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman Packard for a few days.

mouth is visiting her aunt, Mrs. William Furber.

The annual school meeting was held on Saturday. Charles Cones was elected school committeeman for three years and Miss Abbie Frink was elected to the committee for two years, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Martha Coleman.

ADJOURNED MEETING

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth Country Club, will be held on Thursday evening at seven o'clock at the office of the First National Bank.
There was a short meeting held on Monday evening at which time ad-jourment was taken until Thursday. The annual election of officers and several other matters are to come up.

Some of the first of April jokes
this year were the limit.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind,
discourages and lessens ambition; beauty,
vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear
when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent
that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds
the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble,
and both need the same great remedy.
The mild and the immediate effect of

PILES

"I have suffered with piles for thirty-six years.
One year ago last April I began taking Cascarets
for constipation. In the course of a few days
the piles began to disappear and at the end of six weeks they did not trouble me any more. Cascarets have done wonders for me. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man." George Kryder, Napoleon, O.

MONTHLY MEETING

Board Of Instruction With Much BusinessPLAN FOR REDUCING EXPENSES—
FINANCE REPORT MADE

The regular meeting of the Board of Instruction was held on Tuesday evening with Rev. Alfred Gooding acting chairman in the chair and the following members present: Howard, Walden, Hodgdon, Loughton, Thayer, Long, Locke, Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. Benfield.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved, and the usual batch of bills were read and ordered paid on approval.

Mr. Walden, chairman of District No. 3, reported the resignation of Miss Julia Long as a teacher at the Haven school and the resignation was accepted.

Mr. Loughton, for the first district, stated that Miss Louise Pryor had asked for a leave of absence for the remainder of the term and this was granted.

Mr. Walden, for the special committee, consisting of himself, Mr. Howard and Mr. Hodgdon, to devise some means by which the cut of $1,500 in the appropriation could be met, made the following partial report, and asked for further time on the remainder, as the committee thought it could make even a better reduction:

Restore principals to the status of grade teachers.

By the resignation of Miss Long at the Haven school, Mr. O'Neill would take charge of the seventh grade at once, thereby making a saving from this time of $335.

By the granting of leave of absence to the teacher of the sixth grade at the Whipple school, Mr. Curtis would be enabled to assume his additional duties at this time thus saving $300.

There were two reports from the special committee assigned to audit the accounts of the various schools, at the latter's request. Judge Page in a letter stated that in his opinion there was no need of the superintendent's accounts being audited, inasmuch as he did not handle any money, but was simply the recording secretary of the board. Mr. Hodgdon for the committee stated that he with Mr. McCarthy had made an examination of the accounts and found them all right.

Mr. Silver explained that while he did not handle any money, all of the appropriation was paid out on his orders and the receipts bills were his vouchers. Since the first of the present year City Auditor Pryor had checked off the bills with each order and hereafter there would be no need of an auditor from the board.

The report of the Superintendent to the effect that there were 1571 pupils registered and an average attendance of 1451, was accepted.

On motion of Mr. Walden the committee on purchases were authorized to ask for bids for coal during this month when coal is the lowest, and to have the coal put in, there by making a saving of at least $250. It was brought out that last year the schools paid more for coal than the average citizen, and combination of dealers was hinted at. The bids will be opened at a special meeting of the board to be called by the chairman.

In accordance with the report of the special committee, Principal O'Neill of the Haven and Principal Curtis of the Whipple schools, would at once go back to grade teaching, and as the school work had been laid different, there would be need of a teacher to assist them at first and one of the training school teachers would divide her time between the two buildings until they were adjusted.

Miss Hatch, of Greenland had been appointed and as she was only on a normal salary, the board voted to allow her car fare from her home to this city.

At the request of Supt. Silver, he

CAPT. SWIFT REDUCED

Loses Three Numbers As Result Of Court Martial Verdict

Washington, April 3.—Capt. William Swift, who was in command of the battleship Connecticut when it grounded near Cuba Jan. 13, was found guilty of "inattention and neglect of duty" by the court-martial which tried him at Norfolk.

The navy department reviewed the sentence and it was announced on Tuesday by Assistant Secretary Newberry that Capt. Swift will be suspended from duty for nine months and will lose three numbers.

The court-martial recommended suspension for a year and a half and a loss of five numbers, but as the court also asked that Capt. Swift be dealt with leniently the department reduced the sentence.

The recommendation to clemency by the court is rather an unusual tribute to the high character of the accused. The court says:

"In view of the long service of the accused, his excellent and honorable record and his previous exceptionally valuable services to the government, the members of the court unanimously recommend him to the clemency of the reviewing power."

In conformity with the sentence, Capt. Swift has been relieved of command and will proceed to his home in Connecticut, where he will remain until the expiration of the sentence.

Lieut. Harry E. Yarnell, who was tried on charges similar to those brought against Capt. Swift, was acquitted and restored to duty.

BOSTON LOSES THIS TIME

The Boston Americans were defeated by the Cincinnati Nationals on Tuesday, seven to two. Ralph Glaze started to pitch for Boston, but was succeeded by Killian. Both Barrett and Ferris of the Boston team were hurt. It is stated that "Cy" Young has declined to accept permanently the position of captain-manager of the Boston Club.

DELIBERATELY LIED

President Roosevelt Terms
Harriman's LetterRESERVES UGLY WORD TO UNTRUE
STATEMENTS OF MAGNATE

Washington, D. C., April 2.—President Roosevelt, in a statement in answer to the letter of E. H. Harriman, published today, characterizes the statement made in the letter that the President requested Mr. Harriman to raise a fund for the Republican campaign as "deliberate and wilful untruth—by rights it should be characterized by an even shorter and more ugly word."

The President makes public two letters written by him to Representative Sherman, chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, with reference to Mr. Harriman.

With this he dictated the following statement:

"After writing these letters to Congressman Sherman, the President was assured that Mr. Harriman had not made the statements which Mr. Sherman credited him with making. Inasmuch as the same statements appear in the major part in the letter of Mr. Harriman now published, the President deems it proper that the letters he sent to Congressman Sherman last October shall now themselves be made public.

The charges of Harriman and the President's reply caused a sensation in Washington.

There have been some well defined opinions here about the extent to which the corporations contributed to the Roosevelt campaign in 1904, and Harriman's charges were regarded as a further installment.

Every charge of the character made since the 1904 campaign has been followed by denunciations of falsehood in most emphatic terms by the President.

AT SIMPLE AFFAIRS

REFRESHMENTS FOR SMALL IN-FORMAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Suggestions for Imparting an Air of Novelty as Well as Dainty Perfection to the Enjoyable Afternoon Tea.

To the hostess who entertains frequently with small informal afternoon
teas—and, thanks to the growing spirit of hospitality which depreciates more vulgar display, the number is increasing—nothing is more acceptable than suggestions whereby she can impart
to her simple feast a touch of novelty.
Beyond a cup of tea or chocolate the refreshments served are so slight that to make the desired impression they must have a dainty perfection both as to flavor and appearance not so necessary at a larger and more varied affair.

The first thing to be considered is,
of course, sandwiches. Aim first to flick the palate, next to satisfy the eye, and let novelty enter only when it comes hand in hand with the first precept.

It seems hardly necessary to emphasize that half the battle in making dainty sandwiches lies in well made,
well sliced bread. Where the round loaves baked for this purpose can be produced a good shape can be secured
with little trouble, otherwise to attain
the half circle which most housekeepers like there must be a great waste
both of time and bread.

Olives and Pimientos.—For these
you can buy in bottles broken olives
which have been stoned. The pimentos come in small cans. Drain the liquor from both olives and pimientos
and chop fine. Add enough well seasoned mayonnaise to bind together
and make the mixture spread well.

Hard Boiled Eggs, Pimientos and Pickles.—These are made as the above, the eggs, both white and yellow, chopped quite fine, to which is added an equal quantity of chopped pimientos and good pickles. Mix with mayonnaise dressing and spread generously over the bread.

Chicken and Green Pepper.—The chicken should be prepared for this as for salad, boiling until tender and allowing the fowl to cool in its own liquor. The sandwiches are daintier when only the breast is used, though
the dark meat can be added if desired.
Strip the chicken, rejecting all skin
and gristle, and chop the meat fine.
Season with salt and cayenne pepper.
Mix generously with mayonnaise dressing and spread upon the bread.
Sprinkle with finely minced sweet green peppers. This makes a most appealing sandwich.

Egg and Sardine.—Rub the yellow
of six hard boiled eggs to a smooth paste, add enough highly seasoned mayonnaise to make a thick, easily spread mixture. Drain the oil from three or four good French sardines; cut off the heads and lay them open, remove the bones and scrape the skin.
Rub to a paste and add to the egg and mayonnaise, mixing thoroughly.
Spread on thin slices of bread.

Tomato Sandwiches.—These are very simple, and consist of firm, solid,
thinly sliced, well salted tomatoes, laid between slices of lightly buttered bread. I know of no sandwich more dainty or delicious. Do not be misled into thinking that mayonnaise will improve them. In this class of sandwiches belong the cucumber, either thinly sliced and dipped into French dressing or chopped and mixed with mayonnaise. I prefer the latter myself, but both are good.

Oatmeal Macarons.—One cup of white sugar, two large breakfast cups
of rolled oats, two eggs, one tablespoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one teaspoonful of almond extract and a half teaspoonful of salt. Beat the eggs well, add the other ingredients and beat the batter thoroughly. Drop pieces the size of a walnut on well buttered tin, about two inches apart. Bake in a quick oven and leave on the tin a few minutes before removing.

Margarites.—To the white of a well beaten egg add enough powdered sugar to form a thin icing. Make the icing thick with chopped pecans.
Spread on fresh thin soda crackers
and brown in a quick oven.

To Clean Brilliants.
Rhinestones, so say the dealers,
may be cleaned with ordinary chalk.
Powder the chalk, or simply take a stick of it and rub over the stones and into the setting. Let the chalk remain for a time, then brush off every particle with a moderately stiff brush
and polish with a chamois skin.

It is said that the woman who claims her rhinestones this way can make her friends believe that she has truly increased her stock of di-monds.

To Paint a Bath.

Before repainting a bath it should be well rubbed with sandpaper or pumice stone. After this apply two or three coats of bath enamel, taking care to paint very thinly, and to allow each coat to dry thoroughly before the next is put on. In order to keep the bath in good condition, remember, when filling it, always to let some cold water run in before turning on the hot tap.

For Gilded Picture Frames.

First thoroughly dust with a clean duster; then dip a piece of soft rag
in gild, squeeze it as dry as you can,
and rub evenly all over the picture.
The gilding must not be made really wet, and should be placed in front of the fire to dry as soon as all marks have been removed.

PROPER SERVING MEANS MUCH.

Dishes Are More Palatable When Made Attractive.

A plain lettuce salad assumes a different aspect when served in ruddy tomato cup or shining green pepper
cases, and a rosy ring of tomato jelly
may inclose a plain celery or endive salad. Salads can be decorated with chopped green herbs, hard boiled eggs, radishes, cut to represent little tulips, olives and nasturtium leaves and blossoms.

Potatoes can be most decorative.
Mashed potatoes are pressed in the form of tiny pyramids with flat tops.
These are dipped in the white of an egg, then in fine minced parsley, giving the effect of small green pyramids,
through which the white of the potatoes gleams temptingly. These may be used with small pyramids cut from stale bread, and fried a delicate brown in hot butter. They are arranged about a dish alternately with stars or cubes of lemon between.

Curries, ragouts or fricassees are more ornamental if served in a border of rice or mashed potatoes. These are molded in pretty fluted forms and decorated by brushing the rims and raised points with the white of a raw egg, and then sprinkling with chopped parsley. Small baskets about the size of a teacup are made of mashed potatoes, to hold creamed chicken, fish or oysters. The potato is forced in a rotary motion through a pastry bag,
brushed over with egg white, and placed in a cool oven to dry. Handles are emulated by sprigs of parsley
arched to meet above, and green rims
are given with chopped parsley.

FOR A SIMPLE MENU.

Best Dishes to Serve at Ordinary Afternoon Affairs.

When a menu is limited to three articles, and it is for an afternoon affair it should include one substantial article, one sweet, and sandwiches. A salad like green peppers scooped out and filled with all kinds of vegetables cut up and dressed with mayonnaise is popular, and with this sar-dine sandwiches. As a sweet, fruit jelly with whipped cream.

A pretty idea for the jelly is to use orange, apple, and banana skins and serve the jelly in these, having the dish when passed look like a dish of fruit. Have the whipped cream sauce passed with the jelly.

If you do not wish the salad you could have a hot dish, like scalloped crab or lobster, served in individual dishes; or you could have jellied chicken sandwiches. The chicken is pretty if made in individual molds, using hard-boiled eggs in the molds so that the slices of egg are on top
when the mold is turned out.

When entertaining eight guests in the evening a good repast would be bouillon or consommé served in cups;
cream sweetbreads in little individual dishes; salad; and jellied chicken or thin slices of ham; dessert,
ice cream or ices or a rich chocolate cake with chocolate sauce and whipped cream. If you have trouble in procuring fish you can use canned lobster with success.

Danish Dumplings.

One cupful of suet, chopped fine,
one cupful bread crumbs, one cupful flour, one-half cupful sugar, one-half teaspoonful baking powder, little nutmeg, pinch of salt, two eggs and one pint of milk. Sift together powder and flour, add the beaten eggs, grated crumbs, sugar, suet and milk. Make into a smooth batter and drop by spoonfuls into a pot of boiling milk,
three or four at a time. When cooked pour over them the milk they were cooked in.

Here is one more recipe: Beat until light the yolks of three eggs and one teaspoonful of sugar; add one-half cupful of suet, chopped fine, one-half cupful of currants, one cupful sifted flour, into which has been sifted
one heaping teaspoonful baking powder and a little nutmeg and salt,
and, lastly, the egg whites, well beaten. Flour the hands and make into balls the size of an egg. Boil in separate cloths for an hour or so and serve with a rich sauce. Wine sauce is great.

Two Table Suggestions.

Aspic jelly is a valuable aid in garnishing salads, cold meats, game pies and so on. It is refreshing to the eye always, and may be made to assume any form or color. Cubes of pale aspic laid in rings or green peppers have an exceedingly pretty effect; or the aspic is chopped to present a rough surface.

Slices of bread cut in fancy shapes,
rings, stars, diamonds and so on,
browned in butter, make a simple and pretty decoration. They can be tipped with parsley or decorated alternately
with chopped parsley and grated egg yolk.

To "Try" a Cake.

One of the best plans for ascertaining whether a cake has been cooked enough is to very lightly insert in the center one of the common wooden showers that butchers use for meat.
If this comes out clean and dry the cake is done; if the shower is sticky
the cake needs a little more cooking.
This is a much better test than the common one of inserting a broom straw, as the latter is so small it is not always easy to judge properly of its condition.

Coffee Caramels.

Take one pound of brown sugar,
one cupful of strong coffee, one-half cupful of cream and a tablespoonful of butter. Cook until brittle when dropped in cold water, then pour into buttered tin, and when nearly cold mark into squares.

CARE OF THE HOME

USEFUL INFORMATION FOR MIS-TRESS OR MAID.

Best Preparation to Clean Kitchen
Walls—Board That Will Be Found Handy in Many Respects
—Table Oilcloth.

To clean the kitchen walls, first pour some kerosene in a basin, then take a soft cloth and dip it in the kerosene and wash a part of the wall
with it, then wring another cloth out of nice hot water and go over the spot
just cleaned with kerosene and lastly wipe with clean, dry cloth. You will be surprised at the results. It is the easiest and most satisfactory way of washing painted kitchen or bathroom walls.

Sandpaper will clean suede leather,
undressed or "ooze" calfskin bags.
Rubbing the sandpaper lightly over these leathers makes the article equal to new.

Many housekeepers will be interested in a little board they can have made expressly for their use. It is nothing more than the ordinary bread board secured from the 10-cent store, nicely covered several times with newsprint and then a covering of canton flannel or a piece of outing flannel neatly whipped along the four edges. When this is finished make a case, as you would for a pillow, as large as the board and put three buttons on closing end, also three buttonholes. When in a hurry to press a seam or tab collar or shirtwaist, slip your case on the board and press to your heart's content in the dining-room, away from the kitchen heat.

Makers of fancy work may not know
the possibilities of plain black or white oilcloth of the kind known as table oilcloth. It takes paints as well as calico and, calendars, photo frames,
splashes, toilet mats may be made from it. Where it is necessary to bind with ribbon this can be sewed
on with the machine.

Hot milk is much more effective than hot water to take out stains.

Oilcloth and linoleum may be washed with a damp cloth and then rubbed with a little linseed oil. This will give a slight polish and will be found particularly useful when, for the sake of the old people or children,
it is not wise to use that excellent material, beeswax and turpentine.

To Cover Furniture.

An original idea for covering furniture has been tried and proved successful by a woman who wished to have some unsightly chairs in her furnished flat improved. She bought a lot of Roman blankets, with wide dark blue and red stripes, and had an upholsterer cover her sofa and chairs
with them, just as though he were using tapestry or velvet. These looked so well that she has her bedroom chairs also covered with blankets,
having alternate pink and floral stripes. She has had portieres and inside curtains made of blankets matching those on the chairs, and the effect is really charming, and, as the blankets are very cheap, they cost much less than one would suppose.
She says that everything depends upon the color of the blankets chosen.
Of course, very pronounced stripes
would be ugly upon furniture, but the more subdued or delicate colors give a most satisfactory appearance to a room. Here is an opportunity for the amateur upholsterer to try her hand.

Escalloped Turkey with Cream Sauce.

Chop remains of turkey meat into fine bits and cover the bottom of a well-greased baking dish; season with salt and pepper, sprinkle with bread crumbs (or grated cracker), dot with bits of butter, then spread on layer of cream sauce, put in another layer of turkey and one of crumbs continually until the dish is nearly filled, having turkey on top; then mix sufficient breadcrumbs to cover top with yolk of egg and one tablespoonful of butter and milk; spread over the turkey; cover closely and bake for one-half hour.
Serve hot.

Cream Sauce.—For the cream sauce
mix together one tablespoonful each of butter and flour, add one-half cupful
each of milk and broth, and season with salt and pepper.

Cleaning Shell Combs.

It is much better to send a handsome tortoise-shell comb to experts for repolishing. With the use of wheels and brushes they can do the work more satisfactorily than it can be done at home. If, however, one wishes to make the experiment for one's self, here is the best method.
From a good authority: Get some very fine powdered pumice stone from a druggist. Mix into a pretty stiff paste with sweet oil. Rub this paste on the tortoise shell with a piece of an old suede glove. When you have rubbed very thoroughly, rinse quickly in warm water and rub on a little warmed sweet oil. If that does not give the required polish repeat the process.

Cement for Broken Glass.

Plaster of Paris, mixed into a paste
with white of egg, makes a strong cement for mending broken glass or china; and another excellent cement
is made as follows: Into a small bottle press as much isinglass as will fill it, then pour in by degrees un-sweetened gin, which will gradually dissolve the isinglass if the bottle is kept in a warm place.

Cushions for Wicker Chairs.

These look well covered with a good velveteen. Being a cotton fabric, it does not harbor moth, and is kept in order by brushing.

TWO OLD STYLE FAVORITES.

Pumpkin Pie and Indian Pudding as They Ought to Be.

Old Style Pumpkin Pie.—When the
"lady" did her own cooking or knew how better than her help, they were baked in the old style clay deep-center plates, brown, with yellow wiggles in them. The pumpkin was cut in pieces, peeled and stewed soft enough to be scooped. Then mashed and sweetened with sufficient dark molasses into which ginger and cinnamon, two parts of the first, one of the latter to each pie, is mixed. To this was added about one-third rich
cream to two-thirds drained pumpkin.
First bake the pie crust lining, add the pumpkin till level with the edge and bake in a brisk oven (it was brick then) a rich brown, even darker
at the edge, with a brown film above.
It cuts coherently, but like a firm pumpkin pie.

Old Indian Pudding.—Pour a pint
of scalding milk on a cup of coarse yellow Indian meal, add two beaten
eggs, two-thirds cup of dark molasses,
salt and cinnamon to taste, add one pint of cold, rich milk, and bake two hours, stirring several times to make it whey. Make a sauce of one cup of powdered sugar and one-half cup of butter, beaten to a cream, flavor with nutmeg, wine or brandy. A woman hotelkeeper in a small western town
has built her trade on that pudding.

SHELVES ARE IN FAVOR.

Of Equal Utility and Beauty in the Living Rooms.

Shelves, as perhaps few of us realize, add much character to a room.
Like cushions and rugs and books,
they give that delicious air of comfort so often lacking in the stately yet stiff drawing-rooms of some of our modern homes.

Many people do not take to the idea of shelves, associating the shelf with the homely uses of the kitchen, the pantry, and the cellar, whereas the real fact is the utility of the shelf consistently much of its beauty.

People have become educated to seeing bookshelves in a library or sitting room in preference to bookcases, for these always seem designed more as showcases for books and their bindings than to hold books ready for immediate use.

Fewer bookcases are sold nowadays than formerly, for everybody seems to appreciate the charm of the low bookshelves built in around a room for occupying some special nook or corner in a bay window or alcove. On the top of these shelves one can always have plants, photographs, magazines,
all the hundred and one little furnishings that add to the beauty of a room.
The high corner bookshelves are always good for they use space often otherwise wasted.

Fruit-and-Nut Rolls.

Sift together, three times, three cupfuls of flour, six level teaspoonfuls
of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Work in from one-third to one-half cupful of shortening. Then mix to a dough with milk. Turn the dough onto a floured board, knead
slightly, then roll out into a rectangular sheet about one-third of an inch thick. Brush over the sheet of dough with softened butter, then sprinkle with sulfura raisins or cleaned currauts and filberts (hazal nuts), cut into several pieces. Roll up the dough compactly, then cut the roll in pieces an inch long. Set these on end, close together, in a buttered baking-pan. Bake about 20 minutes.

Ever Try Coffee-Chocolate?

It is not generally known that coffee and chocolate combined make a good flavoring—somewhat peculiar,
however, and perhaps one would tire
of it easily, but dishes containing this combination often make an agreeable change from the general routine. A loaf cake with this flavoring is especially good. Cream one cup of sugar and half a cup of butter; add the yolks of four eggs and half a cup of strong coffee. Sift in one and a half cups of flour, with two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Lastly, stir in one and a half squares of melted chocolate. Bake in a regular cake oven; treat if wished.

Keeping House Sanitary.

To keep a house in a sanitary condition does not mean that you must be sweeping, dusting and scrubbing
all the time.

Let the air and sunshine into every part of the house; do not allow any decaying matter to accumulate in the cellar; wash and dry all cleaning cloths, tubs, pails, etc., as soon as you have finished using them. It is not so much the dust that is in sight
as the dust, dampness and decay in dark places that make a dwelling in-sanitary.

French Apple Fritters.

Pare and core six large apples, cut them into slices, sprinkle powdered sugar over them, and leave them for an hour. Then dip each slice in batter, previously prepared, and fry in clarified butter. Let the chafingdish be very hot. When the fritters are nearly ready, drain them, and dust with castor sugar mixed with a little ground cinnamon.

To Boil Eggs Properly.

Never cook an egg for an fabled in water that boils furiously, for this makes the white tough and indigestible. Put the egg in boiling water, throw the saucepan to the back of the stove and allow it to stand for five minutes. This will cook the egg perfectly and the white will be soft and easily digested. Little children should also be given eggs cooked in this way.

WHEN SERVING EGGS

SOME NEW METHODS OF COOK-ING WORTH TRYING.

Departures from Old Styles That Will Be Appreciated by the Family or Guests—Eggs a la Goldenrod.

Eggs a la Suisse.—Four eggs, one-half cup cream, one tablespoon butter,
two tablespoons grated cheese, salt,
pepper, cayenne. Heat a small omelet pan, put in butter and when melted add cream. Slip in the eggs one at a time, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and a few grains of cayenne. When whites are nearly firm sprinkle with cheese.
Finish cooking and serve on buttered toast. Strain cream over the toast.

Eggs a la Buckingham.—Make five slices milk toast and arrange on platter. Use recipe for scrambled eggs,
having the eggs slightly underdone.
Pour eggs over toast, sprinkle with four tablespoons grated mild cheese.
Put in oven to melt cheese and finish
cooking eggs.

Eggs a la Finnoise.—Have ready a shallow pan two-thirds full of boiling salted water, allowing one-half tablespoon salt to one quart of water. Put two or three buttered muffin pans in the water. Break each egg separately into a cup and carefully slip into a muffin ring. The water should cover the eggs. When there is a film over the top and the white is firm carefully remove with a buttered skimmer to circular pieces of buttered toast and cover with a tomato sauce, seasoned with salt and pepper and butter.

Shirred Eggs.—Butter an egg shirrer.
Cover bottom and sides with fine cracker crumbs. Break an egg into a cup and carefully slip into shirrer.
Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs
and bake in a moderate oven until white is firm and crumbs brown. The shirrer should be placed on a tin plate that they may be removed easily
from the oven.

Eggs in Tomatoes.—Cut a slice from stem end of tomato, scoop out the pulp, slip in an egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake.

Eggs a la Goldenrod.—Three hard boiled eggs, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, five slices toast, parsley.
Make a thin, white sauce with butter,
flour, milk and seasonings. Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Chop whites finely and add them to the sauce. Cut four slices of toast in halves lengthwise, arrange on platter and pour over the sauce. Force the yolks through a potato ricer or strainer, sprinkling over the top. Garnish with parsley and remaining toast cut in points.

Egg Farci.—Cut hard boiled eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks and put whites aside in pairs. Mash yolks
and add equal amount of cold cooked chicken or veal finely chopped. Moisten with melted butter or mayonnaise.

A Handy Remedy for Burns.

I have often heard women say that they can never go near the kitchen
stove without getting burned, and no doubt some of us, if not all of us, have suffered many big as well as little burns and scalds for the want of some simple remedy. Of course, we all know that bicarbonate of soda or common baking soda is one of the simplest remedies, but even that does not give immediate relief. Kerosene is the easiest remedy to procure, and is always handy in the kitchen, saving steps to the medicine chest when one is in a hurry, and experience has shown it as the most expedient.
Cover the burn or scald with the kerosene and repeat until the burning sensation is gone. I have never known any tenderness or soreness to follow, or any trace of the burn to be left wherever kerosene had been used.—Pictorial Review.

Cream Puff.

Put four tablespoonfuls of butter
and a cup of water together in a saucepan and place over a slow fire.
Have already measured one cup of flour and, as soon as the water and butter reach the boiling point, add the flour all at once and stir vigorously.
When thoroughly mixed remove from the fire and add four unbeaten eggs,
beating the mixture between the times that each egg is added. Drop by the spoonful on buttered pans, having a space of one and one-half inches between each puff. Bake in a slow oven for half an hour. When done and cool, cut a slit in the side of each puff and fill with sweetened whipped cream.
Use a cap of cream four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. This recipe makes eight puffs.

How to Wash Cut Glass.

Never put heavy, elaborately cut glass into very hot water. The depth of the cutting makes it dangerous to expose the glass to sudden expansion caused by the plunge into the hot water. Rinse in tepid water to which has been added a little ammonia, and clean the irregular surfaces with a soft brush. It also is unsafe to turn too into a cut-glass dish unless it has been gradually chilled in the lexbox.

Cracked cut glass can frequently be preserved to a useful old age by
the skillful insertion of a few rivets.
These will not be noticeable, and can be obtained at any crockery store.

To Keep Canvas Bright.

To keep canvas bright apply to the surface a small quantity of linseed oil,
using a soft rag, and afterwards rub
as dry as possible. Five cents worth of linseed oil will be sufficient for two or three applications.

PROPER CARE OF WARDROBE.

Should Be Attended to Before Regular House Cleaning.

The cleaning of wardrobes and linen closets should be accomplished before the regular house cleaning is undertaken. To clean a closet well requires a great deal of time, and if the work is left until house-cleaning begins, it is apt to be slighted. Choose a sunny, day and hang all the clothing in the closet out to air, brushing it well before it is put back into place. Remove all boxes, shelves and drawers;
dust them well, and wash those which are of wood in soap and water, using plenty of ammonia. While they are drying, sweep the walls with a

CITY BRIEFS

Now make ready for the May weddings.

The moon will reach its last quarter on Friday.

Thomas Jefferson has all of his father's great ability.

The social calendar for the next two weeks is a full one.

Have your shoes repaired by John Mott, 34 Congress street.

The dump at the South Pond is strong enough for anything.

The Dartmouth baseball team has started on its Southern trip.

The days are approaching the thirteen hour mark in length.

"The Devil's Auction," all new, at Music Hall tomorrow evening.

Don't be sure, even now, that we have had the last snow storm.

Hear Chauncey Olcott sing his new songs at Music Hall this evening.

Don't ask a railroad man anything about his schedule of wages or his run.

There will be a hearing before the license commissioners in Concord on April 9.

Portsmouth seems to be the only city in the state without baseball enthusiasm.

The Isles of Shoals will almost certainly have a busy season during the Summer of 1907.

The law should see that the city dumps are not used as depositories for dead animals.

The cucumbers now in the market are of excellent quality and the price is by no means high.

Great features will be seen with "The Devil's Auction" tomorrow evening at Music Hall.

The Postal Telegraph Company's employees received a gift on the first of April that was no joke.

Keen rivalry has developed between the candle pin bowling teams of Dover and Portsmouth.

Portsmouth sincerely hopes that one of the big cruises will come this way during the Spring or Summer.

The locomotives of the Boston and Maine railroad here behave much differently with the Peverly Springs water.

The mean or normal temperature for the month of April for thirty-six years has been forty-four degrees above zero.

A fine salad supper tomorrow evening at the North Church Parish House, with an entertainment, for twenty-five cents.

The pessimistic weather prophets warn us that we may get some of the bad weather this month that we missed in March.

Directly from the Boston Theatre, Chauncey Olcott comes to Music Hall this evening in his new play, "Eileen Ashore."

There were two demented people at the police station Tuesday night waiting to be taken to the state hospital at Concord.

We don't see any fancy letters and figures on the junk teams as yet. Has the order of the city council been put in the junk heap?

It is understood that the new rector for the Church of the Immaculate Conception will be appointed and in charge of the parish before the first of May.

All of the gas meters about the city were given their final reading by the Rockingham Electric Light and Power Company on Saturday, as from the first of this month everything goes on to the new company.

It is said that if Portsmouth gets a new railroad station the Boston and Maine railroad will not spend over $25,000 for the structure. How would a few old passenger cars do, thereby saving this enormous amount?

EXCITEMENT IN YORK

And A Special Town Meeting Has Been Called

APRIL 8 THE DATE AND VOTERS URGED TO ATTEND

York is still in trouble over its new bridge and a number of questions arising from the proposition to build it are causing any amount of talk in the ancient town on the Maine coast.

In consequence, a warrant has been issued for a special town meeting, to be held next Monday, and every voter is urged to attend.

The full text of the warrant states the objects of the meeting as follows:

First—To choose a moderator to preside at said meeting.

Second—To see what action the town will take relative to the collection and legal settlement of all sums of money, if any, which the former treasurer of the town, John C. Stewart, is responsible for and should account for, and to see if the town will direct and authorize a suit or other legal proceedings to be instituted in behalf of the town for such recovery against said Stewart and the sureties on his official bond as treasurer.

Third—To see what action the town will take relative to the collection of any moneys belonging to the town now held by any person or persons without the order or authorization of the selectmen.

Fourth—To see what action or vote the town will take in order to make effective and legal the attempt to enforce and the enforcement of the rights of the town against said John C. Stewart, the sureties on his official bond, and other persons holding money of the town as aforesaid.

Fifth—To see what action the town will take relative to the proper protection and investment of any and all trust funds entrusted to said town, to the end that the same may be preserved distinct from other moneys of the town in a trust capacity.

Sixth—To see if the town will vote to authorize the selectmen and town agent to employ such professional aid and assistance as may be by them deemed advisable, to make effective such action as the town will authorize under the foregoing articles.

Seventh—To pass any vote or votes that the town may deem advisable relative to any or all of the foregoing articles.

DAWSON--WEBSTER

First Ante-Lenten Wedding At Home Of The Bride

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Webster, 8 Cabot street, this afternoon, their youngest daughter, Miss Jennie M. Webster, in the presence of the two immediate families was united in marriage to James I. Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dawson of Cass street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. C. O. Farham, just as the clock struck two, the ring service being used.

The bride was very becomingly attired in her traveling dress of handsome brown tulle, with hat of light blue silk braid and trimmings of ostrich feathers, pink roses and lace.

The parlor was prettily decorated with ferns and other potted plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson departed on the three o'clock train for a tour through the mountains. After their wedding journey, they will reside at 8 Cabot street, and will be at home after June 1. Their friends wish them much joy and a happy life.

THEY MUST WAKE UP

Veteran Firemen Can Afford to Lose No Time

If the veteran firemen want the New England muster to be held here, they will have to wake up.

The matter must be decided next month, when the convention is held here, and the important fact is that the veterans must at that time have $1,500 or more pledged for the celebration. Otherwise Portsmouth will lose it.

MARY has a KODAK! Everywhere that Mary goes, she takes the picture taker.

She carried it to school one day; And while against the rule, The teacher told her to fire away, And photograph the school.

The perfect pictures reproduced—A simple process seen.

Each scholar's right to Montgomery's went, And bought the KODAK MACHINE.

And so it is the world over. One KODAK makes other KODAKS. The advantages of the Daylight Loading Film Cartridge are in evidence everywhere. My friend, follow the example of Mary—join the great KODAK army. Be sure it is KODAK—the market is barred with Cameras that will give you much annoyance. Not so with the KODAK. Be sure it is an EASTMAN, then it is a genuine KODAK.

AGENCY AT Montgomery's ART STORE

H. P. Montgomery's,

6 Pleasant Street Opp. P. O.

Portsmouth, has served nineteen years as an officer of the Post, Grand Army, of Newburyport, twelve years as adjutant, four years as commander and three years as quartermaster.

In 1850 he went to Boston after which he shipped before the mast in the old ship Leland which set sail for the island of Malta. Upon his return he enlisted in the navy and was assigned to the sixty-gun frigate Columbia at the time of the trouble with the Musquito Indians. He saw nearly twelve years of service in the navy.

During the Civil War he was on the frigate at Alligator Bay, Musquito Inlet, Indian River, Brock Port and Charlotte Harbor.

During the last of his service in the navy he saw sea duty upon the U. S. S. Marlon.

AT THE NAVY YARD

A number of out of town people were at the yard today (Wednesday) looking over the old dry dock, with the idea of sending in bids.

Passed Assistant Surgeon George F. Freeman, on duty at the Naval Hospital here, has been ordered to the medical school at Washington.

The proposals for the sale of the old wooden dry dock require that the float shall be moved from the basin within thirty days by the successful bidder. The question is, will it float?

The U. S. S. Isla de Cuba arrived at Baltimore late on Monday and is reported to have made a successful trip from this yard.

A bustle is going on in the Franklin shiphouse today (Wednesday), in preparation for the launching of the new water large, which is expected to take place between three and four o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

It is expected that as soon as the water large slides from the ways in the shiphouse, the work of laying down the keel of the sea going tug will be started.

The machinery and rollers ordered from this yard to the Pensacola yard, have been ordered rushed along as rapidly as possible, in order that they may be set up and put in use to relieve some of the departments recently put out of commission by fire.

One heatersmith has been called for duty in the steam engineering department.

Court-martials have been numerous of late.

The non-arrival of prisoners for the Southbury is noticeable of late and it is hoped that the same conditions will continue.

Comdr. E. E. Capehart, who has been here on sick leave for three months, has been ordered to the Naval War College.

POLICE COURT

George Marshall, for an assault on William Jack on Tuesday, was before Judge Stines in police court today (Wednesday). He pleaded guilty to the charge and told the court that the trouble started from an argument. Marshall presented an injured hand that he got in the fight, but how it happened he did not know. Jack said Marshall called him names and that he struck him. Both were bleeding freely when arrested. The court ordered Marshall to pay a fine of $3.00 and costs of $6.00.

Patrick Sullivan, who has been in jail since Monday awaiting some action on the violation of his prison parole, was brought into court and as nothing was done regarding the matter by the county solicitor he was sentenced to jail for thirty days and ordered to pay costs of $6.00.

EASTER GATHERING

Of The Men's Society Of Christ Church

The annual Easter gathering of the Men's Society of the Christ church was held on Tuesday evening at Freeman's hall, and it was a big success, with a large attendance.

At six o'clock there was a supper served under the direction of Frank A. Pilgrim, and the men of the society acted as waiters. During the evening there was a sale of candy, and fancy articles and the following men were in charge of this; F. W. Trueman, Harry B. Jenness, Warren O. Holmes and Arnold Leavitt.

The hall had been very prettily decorated for the evening with flags and bunting, under the direction of Frank H. Trueman.

Following the supper and sale dancing was enjoyed until midnight, Harold Hott furnishing the music.

The officers of the club are Rev. C. Le V Brine honorary president, Roy B. Ward president, Charles T. Gardner second vice-president, Thurston Smart secretary and Everett L. Marston treasurer.

HARRIMAN CASE

To Be Resumed Today
In Washington

BEFORE THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

Both Sides To The Controversy Had Reserved Rights

OPINION THAT DEFINITE ACTION WILL SOON BE TAKEN

Washington, April 4—Unless Edward H. Harriman chooses to take the stand and answer some of the questions that he declined to answer at the New York hearing, which it is not thought likely he will do, there is small probability that there will be any new developments or disclosures of importance at the hearing to be resumed here today by the interstate commerce commission.

The purpose of the hearing is to give Mr. Harriman an opportunity to introduce any new testimony he may desire to offer in relation to the contention that the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific are parallel and competing lines. When the hearings closed in New York last month the government announced the reservation of its right also to introduce new testimony, but it is believed that so far as the commission is concerned the case is practically closed.

If no further testimony is offered the arguments of counsel will proceed without delay. Then when the report of the commission is ready it will be submitted to the department of justice for an opinion from the attorney general as to further proceedings.

It is the expectation here that action will be taken by the department of justice under the Sherman anti-trust act for the dissolution of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific agreement, on the ground that it is in restraint of trade.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

Cy Flynn and Young Gibbs
New Castle, Pa., April 4—Cy Flynn and Young Gibbs are billed for a ten-round bout tonight before a local athletic organization. Their meeting was to have taken place last week at Erie, but was prevented by the authorities. They are regarded as

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a flower which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. Few young women appreciate the shock of the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to this fact in renewed comeliness. More than a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken-down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and make its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments.

Bad Symptoms. The woman who has irregular headaches, backache, sees imaginary dark spots or specks floating or dancing before her eyes, has growing distress or heavy full feeling in stomach, faint spells, dragging-down feeling in lower abdominal or pelvic region, easily startled or excited, irregular or painful periods, with or without pelvic catarrh, is suffering from weaknesses and derangements that should have early attention. Not all of above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Neglected or badly treated and such cases often run into maladies which demand the surgeon's knife if they do not result fatally.

No medicine extent has such a long and numerous record of cures in such cases as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No medicine has such a strong professional endorsement of each of its several ingredients—worth more than any number of ordinary non-professional testimonials. The very best ingredients known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments enter into its composition. No alcohol, harmful, or habit-forming drug is to be found in the list of its ingredients printed on each bottle wrapper and attested under oath as complete and correct.

In any condition of the female system Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can do only good—never harm. Its whole effect is to strengthen, invigorate and regulate the whole female system; and especially the pelvic organs. When these are deranged in function or affected by disease, the stomach and other organs of digestion become sympathetically deranged, the nerves are weakened, and a long list of bad, unpleasant symptoms follow. Too much must not be expected of the "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; will not cure tumors—no medicine will. It will often prevent them, if taken in time, and thus the operating table and the surgeon's knife may be avoided.

Doctors' All Agree. The most eminent writers on Materia Medica, whose works are consulted as authorities by physicians of all the different schools of practice, extol in the most positive terms, the curative virtues of each and every ingredient entering into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In fact it is the only medicine, put up for sale through druggists for the cure of all diseases of the mucous surfaces, as nasal catarrh, throat, laryngeal, and bronchial affections attended by lingering, or hang-on-coughs that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any amount of lay or non-professional testimonials.

Do not expect too much from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It will not work miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. Nor is the "Discovery" so good for a sudden attack of acute cough, but for the lingering, obstinate, hang-on-coughs accompanying catarrh of throat, laryngeal and bronchial affections, it is a most efficacious remedy. In cases accompanied with wasting of flesh, night sweats, weak stomach and poor digestion with faulty assimilation, and which, if neglected or badly treated are apt to lead to consumption, the "Discovery" has proven wonderfully successful in effecting cures.

The formula is printed on every wrapper of "Golden Medical Discovery," attested as to correctness under oath, and you can't afford to accept any substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret remedy no matter what selfish interests may prompt the dealer to urge such upon you. In fact it is an insult to your intelligence for him to do so. You know what you want and it is his place to supply that want.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They cleanse, invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels, curing biliousness and constipation. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

evently matched and a good bout is expected.

Society Wedding in Gotham

New York, April 4—Two families well known in New York society will be united today when Miss Anne Kountze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kountze, becomes the bride of J. Gordon Douglas. The ceremony will take place in St. Thomas's Church, Bishop Potter officiating. The bride's only attendant will be the bridegroom's sister, Miss Sybil Douglas.

To Open Levee Bids

Shreveport, La., April 4—Bids for the construction of the Thompson levee, forty miles above this city, on the Red River, and for the construction of the levee near Picket Station, ten miles above, will be opened here tomorrow. The Thompson levee will contain about 30,000 cubic yards of earth and the other levee about 35,000 yards.

Commencement at Carlisle

Carlisle, Pa., April 4—Visitors from many parts of the country will be present today at the annual commencement exercises of the Carlisle Indian School. The industrial and academic departments will be thrown open to the inspection of the visitors. The graduation exercises and the presentation of diplomas will be held in the auditorium early in the afternoon.

MEETING AND SUPPER

The regular monthly meeting of Alpha Council Royal Arcanum was held on Wednesday evening at their hall in Freeman's block, and there was a good attendance of the members. Five candidates were initiated the degree team doing excellent work.

Following her work an excellent supper of steamed clams and lobsters, with all the fixings was provided by Edward Downs and thoroughly enjoyed.

Supper over, an entertainment of music and cards was furnished by Orest B. P. Lawrence, who is creating a reputation for himself as an entertainer. The final arrangement for the members of the council who will attend the annual ladies' night of Major Walden Council of Dover, April 10, were made, and the indications are that there will be a good crowd from this city.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulators relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since."—A. B. Davis, grocer, Sulphur Springs, Tex.

Eccentric Frenchman Carried Remains to the Grave.

There has just died at Belle France, an old man of 72, who during his lifetime was notorious for his eccentric and miserly habits, though he was in possession of an income of $4,000. His funeral was attended by a large number of relatives, who were astonished to discover only a few coppers in the house after the funeral.

The will was then opened, and it read as follows: "My dear relatives: I am afraid you are going to be disappointed. I know that none of you have any sort of affection for me, and that if you come to my funeral it will be in the hope of dividing up between you whatever I may leave behind me. I now inform you that I have left no money whatever. I sink the whole of my fortune some years ago in a life annuity. All the money that remained over and above what I spent of the annuity I have given away or burned. I hope this will be a little surprise for you." A search revealed, however, $1,000 worth of annuity stock, the coupons of which appeared to have remained unpaid, but on going to the bank to have these coupons cashed the heirs discovered that the coupons had been paid, but at the special request of the old gentleman, who had given a separate receipt for each coupon, they had not been canceled.

"This is only a little surprise I am keeping back for my heirs," he said. It appears that on the occasion of the annual festival the old man deliberately burned $10,000 worth of bank notes, which he found he had been unable to spend.

BODY NOT TO BE SACRIFICED.

Physical as Well as Mental Education Demanded.

The man or woman who will train the mental faculties without any reference to the physical, shows a faulty qualification for the work in which he or she may be engaged, says the Knoxville Journal. The mind may be ever so well trained and stored with knowledge of the books; but unless there is behind it a reasonably strong body, life runs the risk of being a failure; it is not that, an existence of pain that serves as a limitation upon its possibilities. It is a species of cruelty to educate the mind at the expense of the body. Better let a child grow up into manhood or womanhood with an inferior education than with a better education of the mind and a body weakened in the effort.

The fact that so many men in this country have succeeded in business and in professional and public life have been the sons of farmers, whose early life has been spent out of doors, has been a subject of remark; may it not be accounted for on the ground that in their boyhood their physique was developed so that in after life, besides their mental acquirements, they had strong bodies with which to do the work they have so successfully performed? This is not only possible, but very probable.

How to Treat Employees.

Every store that I know of in America obliges its help to stand on their feet from morning until closing time. Behind each counter in my store is a chair. I want my employees when not busy to sit down and rest. As I walk through the different departments in my store my employees do not have to feel that they must brace up because the "boss" is coming around. My employees are doing right all the time because they know that I am doing right and using them as near right as I know how. My employees would far rather have me home than abroad. I guess that I am an easier fellow to work for than the manager, but he cannot be very severe with them, because I always tell him to use them just as I use him. I tell every man at the head of a department, "Be kind to the help under you. Do not speak to them in any other way than the way I speak to you. Handle your help so that they will respect you and so that they will regret to leave my employ."—Everybody's.

The Old-Fashioned Sea Captain.

Is the old-fashioned sea captain extinct as a type? He stuck close to his ship in the moments of disaster, doing what he could to save the lives of passengers and crew, and, if necessary, going to his death in the effort. He may often have erred, in his extreme devotion to duty, but he held unflinchingly to the loftiest ideals of responsibility and self-sacrifice, and his example was of incalculable value to his profession and to humanity. Are we to regard him only as a memory, or does he anywhere to-day survive?—Brooklyn Eagle.

Submarine Lifeboat.

When a submarine boat becomes disabled beneath the surface of the water and cannot rise its crew is in a bad predicament. To remedy the difficulty an inventor has contrived an auxiliary boat to be carried in the submarine and to be a part of it, practically, until needed. In time of accident the crew of the incapacitated submarine would enter the little craft and when the containing chamber had been flooded the bolts would be withdrawn and the vessel with its human freight would clear itself and rise to the surface.

Drawing the Line.

"Ches, mein, I can be your good oof you can hit broken English no entils-fied." "Very well; I can endure broken English, but I wish you to understand that I shall draw the line at broken china."—Houston Post.

JOHN SMITH'S BUSY DAY.

Certainly Accomplishes Much in the Twenty-Four Hours.

"The person in this town that arouses my profoundest respect," said the gray-headed New York man, "is John Smith. I admire him because he accomplishes so much. No other man that I know of performs one-half the stunts that are credited to Smith. A study of yesterday's news reports reveals how prodigious are his labors. According to the papers he began the day—say about three a. m.—by shooting a burglar. At six o'clock he scalded himself with a pot of hot coffee, and at ten o'clock he fell into a coal hole in Tenth avenue. But not even these disturbances impaired Smith's vigor, for after repairing damages he found time to figure as a principal in two weddings and one divorce. Also he appeared in a police court on a charge of arson, was a witness at two trials, attempted to cut his throat with a razor, drove a runaway team hitched to a pickle wagon, and as a wind-up to his activities was run in on a charge of disorderly conduct. All of which, it strikes me, constitutes a pretty strenuous day even for a Smith."

FUNNY ERROR OF PRINTER.

He Was Not Expecting Latin in Newspaper Copy.

William F. Waller of 3417 Harrison street, now a real estate man, but formerly a printer, newspaper man and publisher, was talking recently of amusing typographical errors. "From 1881 to 1884, when Rose Field was managing editor of the old Kansas City Times, I was foreman of the composing room," he said. "One night Field wrote an editorial paragraph poking fun at the Latin a morning contemporary had printed. Field wound up his effort with a quotation from one of Cicero's orations. The words were 'O tempora! O mores!' meaning 'O the times, O the manners.' The paragraph went up late, and the proof-reader didn't even get a long distance look at it. The paragraph was in the paper the next morning, but the quotation read: 'O tempest, O Moses!'"—Kansas City Star.

Don't Know Right From Left.

"The thing that surprised me most when I began to teach," said the instructor of a class of adults in manual training, "was the number of people who can not tell, instinctively, the right hand from the left. Fully a third of my pupils hesitated a moment before obeying instructions to do this thing or that thing with the right hand or the left. The thing that fixes the proper hand in their minds finally is some incident in which that hand has figured. By recalling that story they know which hand to use. One of the brightest women I know declares that the only way she can tell one hand from the other is to remember the time when, as a child, she tried to milk a cow and was sent flying heels over head. She approached the animal from the wrong side, and the picture of the position of her right hand then is so vivid that it enables her to distinguish that member to this day."

Where the Gold Goes.

Egypt is having a boom, and that explains in part the old mystery where all the gold goes to. There is a crazy land speculation in Cairo, the cotton crop is increasing at good prices, the area of arable land is increased by the new Nile dam, rain is more common from the same cause. And gold is being hoarded in the oriental way usual when times are good. A consular report says that nearly 20,000,000 was sent from London recently, but it has all been absorbed. The sellers of the cotton crop have the money hoarded in their houses. The gold-beaters' bazaar is crowded all the time and it is estimated that each week many pounds sterling in gold coin are melted or beaten into bracelets, necklaces and chains. That gold is always hoarded in Egypt is proved by the fact that some George III. sovereigns are coming into circulation.

Eyes and Exercise.

It was a matter of surprise to Emerson that the following little piece of advice by De Quincey should not have attracted more attention: "The depth and subtlety of the eyes varies exceedingly with the state of the stomach, and if young ladies were aware of the magical transformation which can be wrought in the depth and sweetness of the eye by a few weeks' exercise I fancy we should see their habits on this point altered greatly for the better."—Health Record.

Only Way to Do Good.

There is only one way to make men better. The work must be done from the inside. The seed must be planted in the human heart. The individual conscience must be awakened and enlightened. No reform theory can be made which is automatic. The individual must do the reforming within himself, and all that the outside world can do is to lend him a sustaining hand, a cheering voice and an encouraging look.—Exchange.

Just One Thing.

"When we sat down to the table," said Sue Brette, "I picked up the wine list." "My!" exclaimed Fanny Footlites, "what did he do, drop dead?" "He never winced," I said. "May I have anything on this?" He said: "Sure. You'll find it down in the right-hand corner—beer ten cents a bottle."—Philadelphia Press.

WANT TO PROVE IT

Pittsburg to Show That Some of Them Are Good

Pittsburg, Pa., April 4—More than ordinary interest is manifested in the annual banquet of the Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce at Hotel Schenley tonight. Though the chamber has disclaimed any such intention the fact has leaked out that the primary aim kept in view in making the banquet arrangements was to bring together an assembly that would prove to the world that the only products of Pittsburg are not respondents, co-respondents, homicides, and iron and steel.

Through the Corey and Hartje divorce cases, the Thaw trial and more than its share of notoriety. The reputation of this city has suffered and leading citizens believe that the time has come when something should be done to show that the proportion of good men in Pittsburg is as great as in other communities. Tonight's banquet is the first direct step in this direction. The guests are to number between thirty and forty and all are men who are noted for their attainments in literature, law, theology, philosophy, the exact and applied sciences, statesmanship, the fine arts, mechanical arts, invention and philanthropy. None has ever been divorced and all are loyal citizens of Pittsburg.

THE ONE ARM BLUFF

Thomas Harris, alias James Bell, Arrested By Officer Anderson While Begging

In the arrest of Thomas Harris, alias James Bell, by Officer Anderson on Congress street Wednesday evening the police think they have a man with a record.

Harris or Bell has been about the city for the past two days, and he has been touching everybody he met. Tuesday night he put up at the police station under the name of Thomas Harris, and claimed Portland, Me., as his home. Wednesday evening the police received word that there was a man begging on Congress street and officers were detailed on the case. Shortly after eight o'clock a man apparently with one arm approached two Congress street merchants and requested aid to get a bed for the night. One discovered that the fellow had his arm doubled up under his coat, with the coat sleeve hanging empty, and he called the bluff. The fellow made tracks up Congress street and Officer Anderson was notified and arrested him a few minutes after.

At the police station he gave his name as James Bell and again claimed Portland as his home, and when asked what his real name was he would not answer. He is about thirty-five years of age, and dressed in a neat fashion. In his pockets there was almost two dollars in change. He is a very smooth man, and the police are confident that he is an old hand at the game.

CONCERT AND DANCE

Eagle Drum Corps Hold A Pretty Party At Peirce Hall

The members of the Eagle Drum Corps held a pretty party at Peirce hall on Wednesday evening, and there was an exceptional large attendance considering the many attractions on about the city.

From eight until nine Prof. N. W. Boling gave a very pleasing entertainment of hypnotism and mental telepathy. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight for which Hoyt and Parker's orchestra furnished music.

The following are the members of the corps, Fred H. Marden, Thomas McCaffery, Warren Fritzell, William Fritz, Arthur McCaffery, Walter Marden and John Ramsdell.

J. W. Harvey, Employed In Steam Engineering at Navy Yard Meets With Accident

Mr. J. W. Harvey, employed in the steam engineering department at the navy yard, while working on the engine of the Newport Wednesday afternoon, while she was having a dock trial, caught his hand in such a way that one finger was badly crushed. He was given first aid at the naval hospital and then came to this city. He will be away from work for some days.

WANTED DEPEW'S JOB

Explanation Of Harriman's Dispute With President

IF DEPEW WAS SENT TO PARIS HE WOULD GET SENATORSHIP

Washington, D. C., April 3.—It was authoritatively declared at the White House today that the real reason for E. H. Harriman's interest in the election of the state ticket in New York in 1904, reference to which was made in the communications which passed between him and the President, was that he desired to advance his own ambitions.

It is asserted that Mr. Harriman wanted the position of senator now filled by Mr. Depew and that this was the reason why he was anxious to have him appointed ambassador to Paris.

The inference from Mr. Harriman's attitude was that if Depew could be induced to go to Paris, Gov. Higgins was prepared to appoint him to the vacancy.

WORTH SAVING.

Here is a simple prescription, as given by an eminent authority on Kidney diseases and Rheumatism:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known local druggist is authority that these ingredients are harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. He also states that he has been advised by many of his patrons that this prescription has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, often overcoming the worst forms of Backache and Bladder weakness in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and relieve Rheumatism.

ter, Thomas Entwistle, Henry S. Paul and H. G. Mason.

Committee on Water and Ice at the Cemetery—William H. Smith.

Committee on Police—Thomas Entwistle.

It is sincerely hoped that every member of Storer Post will assist in carrying forward the work that we may be successful in performing our duty to our departed comrades who served our country when in need.

Let us see that the graves of Soldiers and Sailors who have served their country honorably are properly decorated.

Per Order
Michael E. Long, Comdr.

A CORDIAL WELCOME

Extended to Chauncey Olcott by Music Hall Audience

Chauncey Olcott received a welcome to Portsmouth on Wednesday evening that must have been very pleasing to him and the welcome was deserved. Mr. Olcott has fairly won all his great popularity, not only by the exceptional quality of his singing voice, but by his undoubted acting ability. As an exponent of Irish character, he takes high rank among American actors of the present day.

In the part of Richard Temple, in Theodore Burt Sayre's play, "Eileen Ashmore," Mr. Olcott had a role well suited to him. He admirably typified a young Irish gentleman of the time of the first Napoleon, bringing to the part a keen appreciation and a knowledge gained by careful study of the motives which actuated the men of that day. He gave to those who watched his work the impression that his characterization was absolutely true to life.

Incidental to the play, Mr. Olcott sang four new songs and was applauded to the echo. His voice has lost none of its power to please and the selections rendered on Wednesday evening were splendidly adapted to it.

As Eileen O'Donnell, Miss Florence Lester was wholly charming and in her interpretation of the part attained practical perfection.

George A. Lessey, Richard J. Dillon, Arthur Jarrett, Daniel Jarrett, Mildred Beverly, Willa Keyes, Laura Ayers and Olive McVine all did excellent work.

Mr. Sayre's play is far superior to the average drama of its particular class and proved distinctly pleasing to the audience at Music Hall.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Supt. Leslie Norman has commenced his work for the season in Haven and Goodwin Parks and now, as there is nothing in political circles to require his attention, these two beauty spots of Portsmouth ought to shine. However, the Colonel is having his troubles with boys playing ball in the park grounds and tramping on the lawns and he does not know whether to have the signs "Keep off the Grass" enlarged or to have some of the sports who go there for recreation.

NEW BARGE LAUNCHED

Put into the Water at the Navy Yard Without Trouble

The new water barge for New York navy yard, which was expected to be launched between three and four o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon, was put overboard earlier than was expected and gracefully slipped off the ways at half-past one with no more trouble than would be caused by the launching of a forty-foot cutter.

Everything in connection with the first dip was handled in a systematic manner and Naval Constructor Stahl and his assistants certainly made an excellent impression by the work of getting this craft into the water.

The barge will go into the dry dock as soon as convenient, for the installation of her propellers and shafts, by the steam engineering department.

WILL NOT BE OPENED THIS SUMMER

The Naval Prison at the Navy Yard Will Not Be Occupied This Summer, Owing to Lack of Funds

The big naval prison at the navy yard, which it was expected would be in working order by the first of July, will not be opened for prisoners at all this year owing to the fact that Congress failed to appropriate enough money to finish the cells in the prison wing. There are 100 cells in position, but there should be 100 more. Congress was asked to appropriate enough to finish these cells, but it was stricken out of the appropriation bill and although there was a sum put on in the Senate, it was not for the cells.

Col. Allen C. Kelton, U. S. M. C., the governor of the prison, who has been here for over a year supervising its construction, is very much disappointed that he will not be able to start the many plans he had perfected. He returned on Tuesday night from the Brooklyn yard where he has been on a court martial, and he will start work at once in getting the administration building equipped as far as the appropriation will go. Money has been provided for the kitchen outfit, the laundry, refrigerator, the elevators and furnishings for the officers. These bids will be ready by the time the money is available in July.

There was some thought of opening the prison with the 100 cells, but this would be impracticable inasmuch as the prisoners would have to be taken elsewhere when the money for the other cells was provided as everything would be disarranged, and with workmen in and out of the prison, the water and lights cut off, no discipline could be maintained.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Portsmouth Household Will Find Them So

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Portsmouth readers.

Terrence McGrath, blacksmith, of 5 Hanover St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I was continually trying medicines for my kidneys but without obtaining any permanent relief. Sometimes I had severe pains across my loins, accompanied by a feeling of dizziness and headaches. I knew my kidneys were the cause of the whole trouble for the secretions plainly showed a large amount of sediment in them. I went to Philbrick's Pharmacy and got Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box brought great relief and after I had taken a second box the backache disappeared and the trouble with the kidney secretions was corrected. Anyone having kidney disease in any of its various forms can make no mistake by using Doan's Kidney Pills."

CARE OF EMPLOYEES

RAILROADS SPEND LARGE SUMS FOR COMFORT OF MEN.

Is Considered by Up-to-Date Officials as Most Profitable Investment—Immense Clubhouse at West Philadelphia.

To keep the men who run the railroads up to the highest efficiency mark, transportation officers now consider that they can make no more profitable investment than in rest-houses, pensions, insurance and relief funds. Y. M. C. A.'s, schools and libraries. The welfare of the men behind the throttle is as carefully considered as the man behind the gun of a battleship. Welfare work among the railroads began systematically with the establishment of Y. M. C. A.'s. Now there are no less than 200 railway associations, branches representing roads which employ at least 800,000 men.

In the largest railroad Y. M. C. A. in the country, located at West Philadelphia, 2,500 railroad men are provided with all the comforts of a first-class clubhouse and many advantages that no ordinary club possesses. An auditorium, where an audience of 1,200 can be comfortably seated, and facilities for study, make it a great educational institution.

Twenty-five hundred railroad employees use this building as clubhouse and school. It has an auditorium seating 1,200, ample facilities for recreation and educational work.

No Cash Dividends Here.

It is not by accident that there are so many of these rest, recreation and educational oases located along the lines of 125,000 miles of American railroads. They represent a policy just as well defined as that which demands the best roadway or the most efficient locomotives. The big investment involved, officials believe, is a dividend not in cash, but in improved morals, more regular habits, better service, fewer suspensions for infractions of rules, an all-around higher type of men and a better understanding between the men and the railroad.

Resthouses fill in the gaps between the associations on some of the railroads. Comfortable beds for night use, couches where trainmen, to use their own picturesque expression, can "pound an ear" for an hour or two; lockers, books and periodicals, games, fund was established appropriations for it have amounted to something more than $2,000,000, and the annual disbursements average $400,000 at the present time.

Then, there is the savings fund conducted for the employees, to whom three and one-half per cent. interest is guaranteed. Between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia there are 1,000 agents who are designated savings fund depositaries, and at a place like Altoona there are often from half a dozen to 20 men in line to make deposits after working hours. Since this savings fund was established it has paid out $1,225,000 in interest.

Relief Funds.

To all these "provident institutions"—the name under which they are grouped in railroad bookkeeping—add the relief fund. Nearly all the older railroads have some such institution as this, and on a road like the Long Island, with between 5,000 and 6,000 employees, the annual disbursements exceed $20,000 a year. The Pennsylvania fund has received $3,500,000 from the company, and disburses every year nearly $1,250,000 in accident, sick and death benefits.

HOW TRAINS ARE "HELD UP."

Wild Animals and Insects, as Well as Men, Do the Work.

The achievements of those robbers and desperadoes who "hold up" or wreck railway trains are occasionally publicized by wild animals.

In Siberia, for instance, it has happened on at least one occasion that a bear has jumped on to the locomotive of a train and attacked the driver and guard. In one case of this kind, brain met with no vigorous a rebuff that he fell back on to the line and was caught by the wheels, with fatal results.

In Canada it has more than once been found that the passage of a train has been disputed by a moose deer. The moose always got the worst of the encounter.

Ostriches often cause a stoppage of trains in South Africa. They stick their heads in the hand ballasting of the tracks, and, as they are too valuable to kill, the train is stopped till they are captured or driven back to the farm from which they may have escaped.

Even insects may bring trains to a standstill. The white ant, or termite, accomplishes this feat by destroying the sleepers on which the rails rest.

That fish should interfere with trains would seem impossible, but they do so in India by being sucked into the apparatus for watering locomotives at country stations. And once a railway trolley car passing through flooded country was stopped, a large fish becoming jammed in one of the wheels.

Even weeds may "hold up" a train, as in Ecuador, where the vegetation along the track grows so rapidly that if it were not regularly kept down traffic would be impossible.

Owl Caught by Locomotive.

While an early morning express from Glasgow to Aberdeen, Scotland, was passing Allona Junction about five a. m., a barn owl flew across the track and was caught by the locomotive. Miles farther on, when the train stopped, the bird was found clinging in its death grip to the bandrail of the smoke-box. The owl has been stuffed and is now carried as a mascot by the engine driver.

Holy Land, Railroad.

A small passenger steamer has been launched on the Lake of Unilico, in connection with the railway in the Holy Land.

amusements and restaurants are the equipment of the resthouse. The biggest of these is the Filbert street haven, in Philadelphia, which cost more than $30,000, and is used every day by at least 1,000 men.

Increase Efficiency.

For men who are compelled to lay over between runs the Y. M. C. A. or the resthouse is a godsend. Like the associations, the resthouses cost a lot of money; but nobody can estimate how much they save by keeping trainmen in good condition for work that requires the clearest minds and the soundest of bodies. Libraries and reading-rooms have been made still another avenue for the profitable investment of railway funds. A regular chain of libraries 108,000 miles long, either supported in whole or in part by railroad funds, has been established throughout the country and maintained by 48 different roads.

Pensions and the savings fund add more millions to the railroad disbursements directly benefiting their men. As corporations wake up to the necessity for a pension system they investigate the system adopted by the Pennsylvania to provide for old employees. From the time the pension

"I'll never forget as long as I live the first time a postal car was run in this country," said Joseph Elliott, who had charge of the first experimental Uncle Sam made with a traveling post office.

As he spoke Mr. Elliott dropped back into his big leather-covered chair in the New York Post Office building and began toying with his gray mustache reflectively. Mr. Elliott is a veteran of many years' service in the post office. He is now superintendent of the money-order department, having held this same post well nigh 35 years.

"It is nearly 43 years since that first trip was made," he resumed, "and I recall that it was regarded as one of the most important experiments in the history of mails. So it was, too, for without these railway postal cars to-day the handling of mails would be a wretched botch."

Mail Shipped in Bags.

"The car was nothing more than an old freight car which had been fitted up with pigeon-holes. We were ordered to take a car to Washington on a jaunt and then bring back a load of mail from that city, distributing it as we traveled along."

Prior to that time the mails had simply been shipped in bags. There were no clerks on the trains to work over the letters and assort them, so that they might be rushed straight from the railroad station to the various sections of the city.

"We left New York in the morning and traveled all day before we arrived in Washington, for in those days railroading was nothing like what it is now. We were simply on a junket going to Washington. The experiment was to be made coming back to New York, for it should be remembered that the heaviest mails were those that came from the south then, for the army of Gen. Lee and that of Sherman were down that way."

The Return Trip.

"I remember that Gen. Grant was fighting the Battle of the Wilderness the day we arrived at Washington and in this way I know this first trip must have been made with the railway postal car between May 5 and May 7, 1864. When we left the car in Washington I recall that a great trainload of wounded soldiers had just come in from the Wilderness. They were strung along Pennsylvania avenue in Washington pending their removal to the army hospitals."

"That night, we started back to New York, and then our work began. You can imagine we had thousands of letters from the army—letters which had been accumulating in Washington and which no doubt carried many a sorrowful message to the homefolk in the north."

"I have often thought what a traffic in sadness we handled on that first mail car. It seemed that the government's venture had been timed by fate to bring bad news from the Wilderness to the homes of the soldiers."

Arriving in Jersey City, the mail bags were sent direct to the various stations and not to the general post office, and so successful was the first trial that the railway postal car service immediately began to take on life."

The real founder of the railway postal distributing service is said to have been George B. Armstrong, who was assistant postmaster at the Chicago post office in 1861, and Forest Crissey, an authority on the service, says he started the first car. The date given is, however, September 1, 1864, while Mr. Elliott remembers the date of his first trip by the Battle of the Wilderness. It was due to Mr. Armstrong's persistent efforts, no doubt, that the government's approval of the car service was obtained in those early days.

An odd story is told of how the first traveling post office was conceived. One of the distributing agents of the postal service in the neighborhood of Chicago in charge of a junction point where many mails had to be routed told Mr. Armstrong that he had found a mother mouse with a little brood of mice in one of the mail bags.

"That ought never to be," said Mr. Armstrong. "We ought never to allow mail to lie so long in a train as to start a nursery for rats. I am going to see if we can't get the railroads to allow a postal clerk to stay aboard the car and assort the mail before it gets to these towns and cities."

So the great system of to-day, perhaps, grew out of this story about the mice. To-day there are nearly 16,000 railway postal clerks in the United States.

Railroad to Cost $1,200,000 a Mile.

It is stated on reliable information that the contract price for the construction of 12 miles of the South & Western railroad, in Scott county, Virginia, including the tunnel under Clinch mountain and other tunnels to be made, is $1,200,000 per mile, or $14,400,000 for the 12 miles. Perhaps few roads in America have been undertaken at such expense. The work on the southern portion of the road through the North Carolina mountains is equally heavy. The company is losing no time in putting the work through, and the contractors are adding to the force of laborers as fast as men can be secured.

Crows Stopped a Train.

A train was brought to a stand near Liverdon, in France, by the presence on the line of thousands of crows engaged in picking up the refuse thrown out of the restaurant car of the Strasbourg express.

The birds were crushed in such numbers that the engine wheels skidded and the train was temporarily stopped.

Important Bridge Completed.

The bridge on the Cape to Cairo railway, over the Kafue river, 269 miles north of the Victoria Falls, has been completed, and the other day the first train passed over it.

FIRST POSTAL CAR

SMALL BEGINNING OF PRESENT GREAT SYSTEM.

Joseph Elliott, Who Had Charge of the Experiment, Forty-Three Years Ago, Tells About Initial Trip.

"I'll never forget as long as I live the first time a postal car was run in this country," said Joseph Elliott, who had charge of the first experimental Uncle Sam made with a traveling post office.

As he spoke Mr. Elliott dropped back into his big leather-covered chair in the New York Post Office building and began toying with his gray mustache reflectively. The bridge on the Cape to Cairo railway, over the Kafue river, 269 miles north of the Victoria Falls, has been completed, and the other day the first train passed over it.

THE SNOW FIGHTERS.

The word has come from the top of the range, where the pass is a mist of white.

That our foe is there in his rock walled lair, and we try out our strength tonight. The drifts lie thick 'twixt the canon's sides, with the rails far down below. And the call is come through for the steady crew to come up and buck the snow.

Our foe is white, but with youthful strength, and he fights through the night and day; and he never will quit to light pipe or spit, but he's there at his guns to stay.

And he clutches the shivering snapping rails in a smothering, long embrace, And he laughs in his gloe, though all silently, at the men who would storm his place.

But the snowplow roars like a maddened bull, as it charges the drifts, milks the snow. And its whirling blades lay bare the grades, and its song is the song of the strong.

And so, from the crest of the continent, where the granite crags rise sheer, The cheer is flashed, when the foe has been dashed, that the highway of steel is clear.

"ALL ENGINEERS GET SCARED."

Not Often, But Their Nerve Deserts Them Sometimes.

"Does an engineer ever lose his nerve? Is he ever afraid to take his train out on the run?"

These questions were asked of an "old-timer," a grizzled veteran who has pulled limited trains for the past ten years. He never had a wreck and, to use his expression, he "never even threw a shoe."

"But," he says, "I've given the nails holdin' them shoes some awful wrenches."

He smiled when the questions were asked.

"You can't get one engineer in a thousand to admit he is ever scared," he said. "But, just the same, they do get scared, and they don't know why. A man grows accustomed to pulling these eight-wheelers a mile a minute, doing it week in and week out. Then comes a time when something seems to say: 'Don't go out on that run tonight. Stay away.'"

"And there you are. You'll shake your shoulders and say 'Bah! why not? I'm not afraid!' Just the same you watch every curve, every switch, light, every crossing, and your heart jumps when your engine strikes a lot joint. Sometimes the feeling stays with you for a week, and passes away. You don't know why, but all of a sudden it's gone. Then you'll whistle a tune when you climb into the cab and be as happy as a schoolboy. The road will seem smoother and your big machine working better. Maybe it's just a little falling in your nerve."

"Some folks would say it was a pre-sentiment, that something would happen. Frequently trouble does come when you have these presentiments. And this fact, I presume, tends to make you more uneasy. One of the gamest men that ever pulled an engine was Lou Ward, who had the Frisco train to Fort Scott. He left every night at 2:10 o'clock with nothing but his engine, mail car and coach. He pulled that little 'rabbit' train sometimes 75 miles an hour."

"Lou," I said to him one night 'that train will get you some of these times.'"

"Yes, I guess so," he said. "That's a good little 'git' I'm pullin', though, and she'll stick to the rails as long as any of 'em."

"Six months afterward his engine turned over at Lenexa. The steam and boiling water poured over him. They carried Lou to the hospital in Springfield. In a few weeks he was dead. His engine 'got him.'"

"Ward felt that some day his 'little girl' would be a wreck. And a broken rail caused it."

Railroad Progress.

Expenditures of steam railroads for new rolling stock during the present year far surpass all previous records, according to returns collected by the Railway Gazette from car and locomotive-building concerns in the United States and Canada. Freight cars to the number of 165,455 were turned out; passenger cars, 2,561, or a total of 168,000, comparing with only 62,956 last year and 164,547 in 1902, which held the previous high record. Nor do these figures take into account the number of cars built by railroads in their own shops, which have been unusually active this year. The number of locomotives constructed is 5,491, compared with 3,441 last year, 5,152 in 1902, the most active year up to the present, and only 696 in the hard-times year of 1894. At an average cost of $1,000 per freight car, $7,000 per passenger car and $14,000 per locomotive, the aggregate expenditure of steam railroads on this account alone for a single year is $260,186,000. We have here a partial explanation of the boom in the iron and steel industries.

Larger Locomotives Cannot Be Run in Safety Faster Than Now.

"The big double compound engines now used on railroads are the largest this country will see for many years to come."

This is the opinion of W. M. Corbett, superintendent of the western division of the Chicago & Alton railway, says the Kansas City Star.

"The railroad tracks will not sustain heavier ones," he said, "and the speed cannot be increased with safety. I think the limit in engine building has about been reached."

Mr. Corbett led the way to the Alton's "600," a monster which pulls the Chicago "Hummer" between Kansas City and St. Louis. It is so tall the smokestack barely clears the train sheds at the union depot.

"That engine, exclusive of its tender, weighs 220,000 pounds—more than 100 tons," he said. "On ordinary track it will take a train of ten coaches a mile a minute. It will maintain this speed for hours. In a pinch, it could make 75, maybe 80. That's as fast as any ordinary man wants to ride. In fact, a mile a minute brings cold chills to some. Forty and 45 miles an hour is the average schedule of a limited train. This means probably 30 miles an hour up the grades and 60 or 65 miles down. If all roads were perfectly level and straight, a speed of 65 miles an hour could be maintained with ease and safety."

"But the engines used now do all that is required of them. They'll make 60 miles easily, and no traveler demands a greater speed. When you consider what it means for 100 tons, dead weight, to be lunged against a rail hold upright only by spikes driven in wood, you can realize that 60 miles an hour is enough. It used to be, and

hour for in those days any faster time would not have been considered as respectful to the dead.

On An Engine With Grant.

"After leaving New York I went to firing on the Chicago & Northwestern. I was firing a passenger engine on that road when Grant ran for the presidency the first time. We had Grant on our train when he was going from Chicago to Galena during the campaign. He could only go as far as Freeport on our road and for several miles he rode in the cab with the engineer and me. I had always heard and thought that that he was a man who never talked, but I changed my mind after that ride. He talked very pleasantly with us and asked all sorts of questions. He wanted to know how we got paid, whether we got our money according to the time we worked or according to the length of the runs. The arrangement we had for eating and sleeping while out on a run seemed to interest him. He asked all about that. When he left the cab at a little town just before we reached Freeport, General Grant said to me:

"I don't believe I would like railroading. Soldiering is bad enough for me."

Building the Union Pacific.

"It wasn't long until I decided to go farther west and went out to Omaha, where I got a job running an engine on the Union Pacific. They were building the road out in Utah to meet the Central Pacific and I was sent out there to run an engine on a train that was hauling supplies for the building of the road and the men."

"When the track was ready a Union Pacific engine and a Central Pacific engine were run up so that the two met on the last rail. Then the engineer of the Central Pacific engine, standing on the pilot, headed the Union Pacific engineer three bottles of wine. While they were doing this a picture was taken. After the two engines had backed, the last rail, the tie and the socket and spike were all taken up to be made into souvenirs of the building of the road."

"The party that had come from California had brought two cars of California wine and everybody in Promontory was happy that night. If there been a sober man there he could have walked all over the town without stepping off of the wine bottles."

"The last rail was cut in two pieces, one-third of it going to the Central Pacific and two-thirds to the Union Pacific. As most of the engines used in the construction of the road had been laid up when it was completed, I got a job as a mechanic in the shops at Wasatch."—Kansas City Star.

SPEED LIMIT OF TRAINS.

Larger Locomotives Cannot Be Run in Safety Faster Than Now.

"The big double compound engines now used on railroads are the largest this country will see for many years to come."

When you consider what it means for 100 tons, dead weight, to be lunged against a rail hold upright only by spikes driven in wood, you can realize that 60 miles an hour is enough. It used to be, and not many years ago either, that 30 or 35 was fast enough. But I presume it's a speed craze this country has gotten. When a woman learns the train she is to take is a 'local,' she turns up her nose. A man swears. They both want fast rides."

Mr. Corbett says that within a very few years the railroads will face a hard proposition in the scarcity of ties. The forests are being swept away rapidly, and it is only a matter of time until a substitute for wood in railroad construction must be found. According to an estimate made by the department of agriculture last year, 34,000,000 ties were used in construction in 1905. This is equivalent to 3,000,000,000 feet of lumber.

Comparison of War and Peace.

In the battle of Mulden between the Russian and Japanese forces, the Russian losses were said to amount to about 90,000 men. If you live in a village of 850 inhabitants, says the Outlook, you may be reasonably sure that some fellow townsman of yours will be injured by a railroad during the year.

If your town contains 17,000 people, it is mathematically certain that 20 of them will meet with an injury before a year has passed, or that enough other injuries will be inflicted in other parts of the country to make up the quota of your community."

If the freight train that passed you the other day had a crew of nine men, in nine years every one of them will have been injured; if not, then their good fortune will have been gained at the cost of exceptional misfortune to others.

Plan Gigantic Steel Bridge.

A gigantic steel bridge, over a mile long and 300 feet high, across the Rely river, at Lethbridge, Ont., is about to be constructed by the Canadian Pacific railway.

MRS. EDDY'S LETTERS

Three of Them Are Given to the Public

ONE NAMES THE TRUSTEES OF HER PROPERTY

There have been no new developments in the sensational Eddy case since Tuesday, unless three letters from the pen of Mrs. Eddy herself may be so considered. One of these letters, apparently addressed to the world at large, is as follows:

"I am pleased to say that the following members constitute the board of trustees who own my property:

"1. Henry M. Baker, who won a suit at law in Washington, D. C., for which it is alleged he was paid the highest fee ever before received by a native of New Hampshire.

"2. Archibald McLellan, editor-in-chief of the Christian Science periodicals circulating in the five grand divisions of our globe; also in Canada, Australia, etc.

"3. Josiah E. Fernald, justice of the peace and president of the National State Capital bank, Concord, N. H.

"To my aforesaid trustees I have committed the hard earnings of my pen—the fruits of honest toil, the labor that is known by its fruits—benefitting the human race and I have so done, that I may have more peace and time for spiritual thought and the higher criticism.

"MARY BAKER G. EDDY.

"Pleasant View, Concord, N. H.

"April 3, 1907."

A second communication to the Christian Science Church in Boston is given below:

"Pleasant View, Concord, N. H., April 2, 1907.

"The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass.

"My beloved Church—Your love and fidelity cheer my advancing years. As Christian Scientists you understand the Scriptures, 'Not not myself because of evil doers; also you spiritually and scientifically understand that God is divine love, omnipotent, omnipresent, infinite, hence it is enough for you and I to know that our Redeemer liveth and intercedeth for us.'

"At this period my demonstration of Christian Science cannot be fully understood, theoretically, therefore, it is best explained by its fruits, and by the light of our Lord, as depicted in the chapter 'Atonement and Exhortation, Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures.'

"MARY BAKER G. EDDY."

A third letter is addressed to W. D. McCracken, a reader in the Boston church. This is in Mrs. Eddy's own handwriting and the following is its text:

"Pleasant View, Concord, N. H., March 22, 1907.

"Mr. W. D. McCracken:

"Beloved Student—The wise man has said, 'When I was a child I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man I put away childish things.' That this passage of Scripture and its concluding declaration may be applied to old age is a solace.

"Perhaps you already know that I have heretofore personally attended to my secular affairs, to my income, deposits, investments, expenditures and to my employees. But the increasing demands upon my time and labor, and my yearning for more peace in my advancing years, have caused me to select a board of trustees to take the charge of my property. Namely, Hon. Henry M. Baker, Archibald McLellan and Josiah E. Fernald.

"As you are the first reader of my church in Boston, of about 40,000 members, I inform you of this the aforesaid transaction.

"Lovely yours in Christ,

"MARY BAKER G. EDDY."

THEY TAKE RISKS

People Walking on Railroad Tracks

Incur Danger

People walking to and from the paper mill on the Dover track seem to be taking too many chances and the trains have several times had to hold up on the line on account of people on the track. On Wednesday afternoon, the train due here from Dover shortly before five o'clock had to come to a stop for a man who was caught on the treads of the short bridge just off Noble's Island.

MARRY HAS A KODAK!

She carried it to school one day, and while against the rule, the teacher told her to run away, and photograph the school.

The perfect pictures reproduced—A simple process seen.

Each school straight to Montgomery's went, and bought the KODAK MACHINE.

And so it is the world over. One KODAK makes other Kodakers.

The advantages of the Daylight Loading Film Kodak are in evidence everywhere. My friend, follow the example of Mary—join the great KODAK army. Be sure it is a KODAK—the market is burdened with cameras that will give you much annoyance. Not so with the KODAK. Be sure it is an EASTMAN, then it is a genuine KODAK.

MYSTERIOUS PACKAGE

Finders at First Thought It An Infernal Machine

When is an infernal machine not an infernal machine? Well, when it is something else. This would very likely be the answer to the riddle given you by a well known young man of this city, who holds a responsible position with the Boston and Maine railroad.

One day this week, one of the Hampton section crews picked up on the tracks there a mysterious package which aroused the suspicions of the men.

It appeared to be a small battery of and carefully wrapped in paper, and carefully wrapped with paper.

Just what it was they were unable to determine, but it had an ugly look to the railroad men.

The news of the find soon spread throughout Hampton and every railroad man was stunned as if he were a convicted nihilist. The good people of that town were taking no chances with infernal machines and their attitude toward the Boston and Maine employees was a good deal like that of the general public toward a smallpox suspect.

The mysterious package was finally turned over to one of the roadmasters. That gentleman accepted its custody with the air of a man who heroically agrees to sacrifice his life for the nation's good. He adopted a sort of I-die-that-the-republic-may-live pose and started back to Portsmouth with the instrument of death.

Nothing happened and determined to find out just how the machine worked he took it to a firm of experts and was told that it was nothing but the battery of a pocket electric lamp which had been discarded.

The question now is whether the joke is on the railroad men or the people of Hampton.

BIG HAMMER STARTS

First Work Done With It at the Forge Plant

There was much activity at the forge plant today (Thursday) and the officials were found wearing smiles when a Herald man dropped in early in the morning.

It was all due to the fact that the first movement of the big hammers was made at half-past eight.

The big four and one-half ton machine worked to perfection and everything in connection with the trial was successful.

A number of spectators witnessed the work of the hammer.

GREETED THE GOVERNOR

Members of Legislature and Citizens of State Met Him

For two hours on Wednesday afternoon, Gov. Floyd shook hands with the members of the Legislature in Dorie Hall in the statehouse at Concord. He also received private citizens of the state.

Nearly every member of the General Court and hundreds of others from all parts of the state grasped the Governor's hand.

Attending Mr. Floyd were the members of his staff and council and Gen. Jason E. Folles, brigade commander of the New Hampshire National Guard, with his staff.

Never a Second Regiment band played throughout the reception.

Strawberries of fine quality may now be bought for a fairly reasonable price.

PERSONALS

Clarence H. Paul is out, after a severe attack of the grip.

Mrs. Edwin F. Rowe is visiting at her former home in Raymond.

Comrade Charles H. Cole of Eliot, is at Lakeport, caulking a steamer.

Miss Agnes Hurley is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Percy DeCoursey in Woburn, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. George Coleman of Greenland have been visiting relatives in South Eliot.

C. F. Dyer, who has been in this city for two weeks, has returned to his home in Manchester.

Misses Margaret Rossiter and Margaret Casey of Dover passed Wednesday evening in this city.

Mr. Phillip Young of Boston, formerly of this city, passed Wednesday night here calling on friends.

Miss Gertrude Urquhart of Lynn, Mass., is the guest of Miss Florence G. Marshall of Miller avenue.

P. J. Donovan is moving from his residence on Myrtle avenue to a residence at 11 Russell street.

Miss Alma Staples and Mrs. Willie Weeks, passed Wednesday the guests of friends in Salem and Lynn.

James Tucker of Raitt's Court, who has been ill for the past six months, is able to be out again.

Attorney George F. Hughes of the firm of Kivel and Hughes of Dover was here on business today.

A. B. Massey of Melrose, Mass., district passenger agent of the Boston and Maine railroad, was here on business today.

Miss Phyllis Toner of this city was an important witness recently in the interesting Barnard case, now being tried in Boston.

Harry Tucker, until recently bookkeeper for the C. E. Boynton Company, has taken a similar position with R. H. Beacham and Son.

Miss Clara Hopkins has returned to Bradford Academy, after passing the Easter vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hopkins.

George Perkins was taken suddenly ill while at work at the establishment of the Portsmouth Heating and Plumbing Company on Wednesday and was taken to his home.

William Jones, son of former Chief of Police Jones of Haverhill, Mass., is passing a few days in this city. Mr. Jones was formerly a member of the crew of the gunboat Eagle.

HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Bell, Alias Harris, Pleads Guilty to Begging Charge

James Bell, alias Thomas Harris, who was caught working the one arm bluff on Congress street on Wednesday evening, was before Judge Simes in police court today (Thursday) and pleaded guilty to the charge of being a tramp and begging. The court held him for the grand jury in two sureties of $300 for his appearance in Exeter next month.

Harris, or Bell, is a slick looking gentleman and would hardly be taken for a man of this type. However, the police think he is an old timer at the business and that they have got a bad man out of the way for a while.

A trial under the tramp law will pay him for his trip to this city and the game in which he failed to make good.

EASTER SALE

Odd Ladies Sewing Circle Hold Annual Affair

The annual Easter sale and dance of the Odd Ladies' Sewing Circle was held at Freeman's hall on Wednesday evening, and it was a very successful affair. There was a good attendance and the different articles met with a ready sale.

Mrs. Harry O. Holt was chairman of the general committee and she was assisted by the following ladies:

Fancy table—Mrs. Oliver Goldsmith, Mrs. Clarence Gowin;

Apron table—Mrs. J. Rutledge, Mrs. Robinson, Lettie Lydston;

Candy table—Mrs. Belle Hanscom, Mrs. Flora Wood;

Flower table—Mrs. Charles Denrett, Mrs. Emma Pendexter;

Fish pond—Mrs. Trueman, Miss Lizzie Taylor;

Ice cream and cake—Mrs. Warburton, Mrs. Smith;

Guess Cake—Ida Blaisdell;

Entertainment—Mrs. Frank Sides, Mrs. Mary Klump, Mrs. Clarence Gowin.

During the evening an orchestra composed of Miss Quinn and Mr. Frank Fichtl, violins, Mrs. George Mudgett, cornet, and Mrs. Mary Klump, piano, furnished music and the following entertainment was given:

Vocal solo, Hattie Leary.

Violin solo, Frank Fichtl.

Newsboys chorus, Harold Marston, Morrisson Weston, Clinton Trueman and William Mercer.

Vocal duet, Mrs. Mary Klump and Miss Amy Richardson.

Solo, Miss Amy Richardson.

Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, and it was a very merry party.
